Red Buildup Forces End To Tet Truce

American Officer Predicts 'Invasion' Near Khe Sanh

SAIGON (AP) — The allies called off the Tet truce in South Vietnam's northern military sector tonight because of a build-up of a massive North Vietnamese invasion force ready to spring after the cease-fire. The 36-hour standoff began elsewhere in the country, marking the Vietnamese lunar new year.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officials reported the enemy had four or five divisions—40,000 to 50,000 men—along the demilitarized zone and just over the border in Laos. The force included a new enemy unit, the 320th Division, the officials said.

"The threat is serious up there," a senior U.S. spokesman asserted. "It is not militarily logical to let the enemy have 36 hours of resupply and movement while we sit there and get hit. Why should we give the enemy 36 hours time to get into position when they've got three to four divisions there ready to whack us?"

'An Invasion'

Another senior U.S. officer said: "There are three divisions in the Khe Sanh area, and possibly a fourth. It is something I would label an invasion. It is no longer just infiltration."

Khe Sanh is in the jungled hills of northwest South Vietnam. The U.S. Marines are dug in there in a combat base just below the demilitarized zone.

The truce cancellation announcement also said U.S. air raids would continue during the truce period in North Vietnam's southern panhandle for a distance running about 125 miles north of the demilitarized zone to Vinh on the northern coast.

The U.S. Command has rushed nearly 10,000 Army troops to the five northern provinces—called the 1st Corps area—to back up the Marines spread along the DMZ. More Army forces are likely to be dispatched soon.

The United States has three divisions in the 1st Corps area—perhaps 60,000 troops. The South Vietnamese have 12,000 men there.

The allied Tet cease-fire went into effect elsewhere at 6 p.m. —4 a.m., CST. The announcement of the cancellation for the northern sector came from the South Vietnamese government.

Two major actions were reported along the northern frontier since the unilateral seven-day Communist truce went into effect Saturday at 1 a.m. Saigon time. The fighting left 203 North Vietnamese and 26 U.S Marines dead and another 117 Marines wounded, the U.S. Command announced in reports delayed for what it termed security reasons.

In the heaviest action, Marines fought a 2½-hour pitched battle Saturday with dug-in North Vietnamese troops 15 miles northeast of Khe Sanh and seven miles below the DMZ. Nineteen Marines and 151 North Vietnamese troops were reported killed. Ninety Marines were wounded.

In the air war over North Vietnam, heavy overcasts spawned by the northeast monsoons let up slightly Sunday and U.S. pilots flew 90 strike missions.

Holdup Men Escape With 7 Hostages

Police Interrupt Robbery Attempt At Denver Market

DENVER, Colo. (AP) Seven hostages were taken and one was shot after police interrupted a supermarket holdup, touching off an hours-long chase that wound in and out of Denver and south past Colorado Springs today

Two hostages, including the shooting victim, had been released and the chase continued some 3½ hours after it began.

"Abandon chase. Stay back. They're threatening to shoot," radioed police sergeant Lawrence P. Morahan, one of the hostages, after the holdup suspect commandeered a police cruiser and hustled away Morahan and three store employes. Pursuit cars then were ordered to fall back.

The hostages, which also included a woman, a small child and the driver of another commandeered car, were taken in a sometimes frantic, sometimes snails-paced series of maneuvers that led pursuers first west, then east, then south of Denver.

Sedan Commandeered

After heading west about 10 miles, then circling back east to the city, the bandits took their four hostages, left the police cruiser—its red light still flashing—and commandeered a sedan.

One hostage was released and allowed to telephone police the bandits had repeated the warning that someone would be shot unless the chase was called off.

Officers said the man shot the supermarket employe and slugged Morahan when they tried to overcome him.

The bandits, cornered in a basement, took three store employes hostage. Morahan was ordered to "hold it" as he started down the stairs, and he and the others were herded into the cruiser.

President's Record Budget Lists Surtax as 'War Levy'

$76.7 Billion Is Proposed For Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson handed Congress today a $76.7 billion defense budget reflecting "our resolve to preserve the independence of Vietnam" and provide the nuclear and conventional forces essential to national security.

His military spending proposals for the 1969 fiscal year are nearly $3 billion bigger than this year. Vietnam accounts for one-third of the entire military budget.

But except for Vietnam war costs, it is essentially a hold-down budget with few surprises

Johnson said the money he is asking for the 12 months beginning July 1 "will cover all currently anticipated defense requirements for the fiscal year, including the possibility of continuation of combat in Vietnam beyond this period."

Before Crisis

The new defense budget was completed before the crisis developed last week over North Korea's seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Nobody knows how long that crisis will last, or whether North Korea's new challenge will trigger a major expansion in U.S military strength.

Nearly 14,800 air reservists already have been mustered for indefinite active duty. More reservists, possibly ground troops, may be called.

Assuming the Pueblo crisis can be solved before the new fiscal year opens five months from now, Johnson is planning a 13,000-man cut in the total of men under arms to 3,477,000 by June 30, 1969

At the same time, present intentions are to reach 525,000 men in Vietnam and to stay at about that level throughout the 1969 fiscal year. About 517,000 U.S. troops will be in place by June 30, the end of the 1968 fiscal year.

Course of War

Whether Johnson can carry out this plan depends on the course of the war He and Secretary of Defense Robert S McNamara said a year ago they felt they could hold the force level in Vietnam to about 480,000.

The military cost of the Vietnam war will rise to $25.8 billion in fiscal 1969, according to Johnson's projections. This would be

$186.1 Billion Requested For Fiscal '69

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked for "sacrifice and hard choices" today in a budget message calling for record outlays of $186 1 billion and a $10 2 billion income tax surcharge—in effect, he said, a war levy.

"It is not the rise in regular budget outlays which requires a tax increase, but the war in Vietnam," Johnson told the Congress which has stalled off an election-year tax boost

Budget in Brief

	In billions
Outlays	$175.6	$186.1
Income	155.6	178.1
Deficit	19.1	8.0
Debt at Yr.-end	370	387.2

The presidential message gave high priority to government attacks on poverty, crime and pollution on the home front, and to a $76 7 billion outlay for the Defense Department—almost one-third of it to be spent on Vietnam alone

But he pounded again and again, in a 556-page message drafted in a new-style "unified" format, on the need for an anti-inflationary 10 per cent tax boost starting April 1 for individuals and retroactive to Jan 1 for corporations

Without the tax hike, he warned, the federal deficit "would be near $20 billion for the second year in a row." With it, the fiscal 1969 deficit will be $8 billion, he said.

Peacetime Deficit

But the message disclosed that fiscal 1968, the government year now half over, will show the biggest "peacetime" deficit in history, $19.8 billion The Johnson deficit eclipses President Dwight D. Eisenhower's red-ink record of 1959, $12.4 billion

From Congress came indications Johnson's tax hike proposal faces serious problems unless spending is first trimmed considerably.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M Dirksen said it appears "we're going to have to do some pretty extensive cutting" Rep Melvin R Laird of Wisconsin, a GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee said the budget continues a deficit spending trend "both clear and shocking"

But Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the Appropria-

Gamblers, Firearms

Forced Registering Invalidated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the forced federal registration of gamblers violates the Constitution and also held that the government can not force individuals to register firearms.

In both cases, the court held 7-1 that the requirements run contrary to the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

Sawed-off shotguns, machine guns and certain other firearms were covered in the arms registration case.

The gambling registration decision bars prosecution of gamblers who refuse to register on the grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Similarly, it bars prosecution of gamblers who refuse to pay a special yearly tax of $50 and to pay 10 per cent excise on wagers received by them.

'Not Trifling'

The "hazards of incrimination" that go with the federal gambling requirements "are not trifling or imaginary," Justice John M. Harlan said.

He said gamblers can expect that registration and payment of tax "will significantly enhance the likelihood of their prosecution for future acts, and that it will readily provide evidence which will facilitate their convictions."

Chief Justice Earl Warren dissented saying that only by requiring gamblers to "come forward under pain of criminal sanctions and reveal the nature and scope of their activities can Congress confidently expect that revenue derived from that outlawed occupation will be subject to the legitimate reach of the tax laws."

Justice Thurgood Marshall did not take part in the case, presumably because he is a former Justice Department official.

The federal law making it a crime to possess certain kinds of unregistered firearms was successfully challenged by Miles Edward Haynes, of Dallas, Tex., who was sentenced to four years in prison on conviction of possessing an unregistered shotgun.

Haynes contended he was being punished for refusing to incriminate himself by declaring himself the possessor of an unregistered shotgun. Forced self-incrimination is prohibited by the Fifth Amendment to the U S Constitution

The 1934 National Firearms Act grew out of the attempted assassination of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933 It imposes annual occupational taxes on those who manufacture, import or sell certain firearms and puts a tax on the transfer of some other guns.

Different Stands Taken on Answer to Pueblo Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators say such military action as a blockade of North Korea or sinking its gunboats are possible if she refuses to return the USS Pueblo and its crew of 83.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen also said Sunday that if diplomatic means fail, "we are going to have to put our foot down."

But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield continued to urge caution, saying avoidance of another Asian war must be a paramount goal.

The congressional reaction to the Pueblo crisis came as the Pentagon announced that U.S. air power in the Far East is being beefed up as a precautionary move. Details were kept secret.

Other Washington developments in the aftermath of the Pueblo's seizure:

—The Navy froze most requests for discharge by members of Naval Reserve units There are more than 133,000 Naval Reservists in drill-pay status.

—Sources said that while the U.N. Security Council continued this country was asking several countries for backstage help in resolving the crisis.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee mentioned a possible blockade if the North Koreans don't return the ship and crew.

Stennis did not advocate any specific military action, mentioning the blockade possibility during an interview. But he said he wouldn't "rule out anything," including the use of nuclear weapons

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., suggested the United States might start sinking North Korean gunboats or holding that country's merchant ships hostage if peaceful means fail.

"It was an act of piracy, it's an act of war, and I believe that we should make an appropriate response," Long said

But Mansfield, who has maintained any "rash act" must be averted, said "If it would bring about the release of the ship and the crew, I would admit that it was taken in territorial waters, even though that is not the truth

"I am satisfied that the Pueblo was in international waters where it had a right to be," he continued "But if we could avoid a new war by a concession of this kind on the record, I would do it."

Dirksen said he supports

Premier Says, 'The Time Will Come'

Kosygin Predicts U.S.-Soviet Accord

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin says that cooperation some day between the United States and the Soviet Union is inevitable, but he rejects any Soviet government role in finding peace in Vietnam except on the terms of its Communists.

The premier outlined his views to the editors of Life magazine, who described his words as a "chilling recital of how the Soviet Union views the United States." He denounced all major aspects of U.S. foreign policy, particularly in the Middle East and in Vietnam.

Kosygin's view, as expressed in the Moscow interview Jan. 19, is that U.S. policy forces the Soviet Union and others to "spend more funds" than they want to on the military, and that thus "the growth of the living standards of all people is being inhibited all over the world" But he predicted that some day, because of the very size and power of the two nations, the Americans and Russians would move toward cooperation. This cooperation, however, would be on the basis of "the struggle for peace," he said. The Communists often equate the "struggle for peace" with the advance of communism.

"We think the time will come," said Kosygin, "when the United States and the Soviet Union are sure to cooperate. We are convinced that the American people will find ways of stopping the war and aggression. Cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States is inevitable because two such great countries in the world cannot but cooperate Our people are increasingly realizing this, and such cooperation must be based on the struggle for peace. We shall wage this struggle and shall resolutely fight against aggression and wars."

Because of Vietnam and other issues, Kosygin said, Soviet-American relations now are "very complicated," and "we cannot say that normal relations exist between us." He traced much of the strain to Vietnam Asked if his talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson indicated Moscow was making efforts to find a solution, Kosygin rejected that role.

"I have no authority to conduct talks with anybody about ending the war in Vietnam," he said. "I wish to make this clear so that no one has the false impression that the Soviet government has such authority, to conduct talks with Harold Wilson, Lyndon Johnson or anybody else . . The United States cannot defeat Vietnam, and we, for our part, will do all we can so that the United States does not defeat Vietnam."

At the conclusion of the game, the seal was broken and all participants given a copy showing the hands played, thus furnishing ammunition for post mortem discussion.

Court Rules on Age Limit for Air Stewardesses

NEW YORK (AP) — When an airline stewardess reaches the age of 32—or whatever mandatory cutoff age is set by an airline—she has to give up her job, the New York Appellate Division has ruled.

The court said Thursday that state laws against discrimination in employment do not apply on the question of age, except in cases where the employe is between 40 and 65.

The case arose when American Airlines dismissed Eloise N. Soots on Aug. 23, 1965, after she passed the mandatory retirement age for stewardesses.

Miss Soots took her case to the State Commission on Human Rights. After a hearing on which no decision was reached, both sides agreed to submit the case to the five-judge Appellate Division.

Informed of the decision, Miss Soots, now 35, said, "the company likes a sort of young, minibopper image, but the girls who have been there do a very good job and look very sharp."

Your Problems

Stingy Husband Won't Part With Pocket Money for Mate

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Many people who write to you sound as if they haven't got all their marbles. Maybe other readers will say the same thing about me but I need an answer.

I have seen hypnotists on the stage and on TV. They seem able to do remarkable things. I've heard it said a hypnotist must be a person with a positive attitude and a strong will. I have these qualities.

My question is this: The man I am married to is so stingy that I spend half my time figuring out how to finagle a dollar out of him. He has a good job, we own our own home, drive a nice car and we pay cash for everything. He has it figured down to the penny how much money I need to pay the milkman and the paper boy and he even counts the dollar for the collection plate at church. I can't get my hands on one extra dime.

Do you think if I took some lessons in hypnotism that I might be able to get something extra out of him? I would of course pay the hypnotist after he taught me how to do it. — Batting Zero

Landers

Dear Zero: Hypnotism is not as simple as it looks, and it can be dangerous in the hands of amateurs. Furthermore, the subject must be cooperative. A man who is so stingy that you can't pry a dime out of him is not likelty to sit there and let you put him a trance.

You need a third party to mediate this undeclared war. Most banks have financial counselors who are experts in just such matters. It is degrading for a woman to walk around flat broke and no wife whose husband is employed should have to do so.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I could write a book about the agony I've suffered these past 18 days but I know I must make this letter brief.

I met this man at a respectabl ecocktail lounge. He said he was in town to do an audit on a company and the audit would take five days. After that first meeting I was sure he was the dream prince I had been waiting for all my life. Not only was he the handsomest man I'd ever met, but he was intelligent, witty, up on current events, poetry, music, a grand dancer and he made me feel loved and wanted.

I am not a kid, Ann. I'm 28 years old and have been around the track a few times, but I never met a man like this one. We were together every minute (outside of the eight hours we had to work) from Monday through Friday. He said he had never been in love before and I believed him.

When he left town I drove him to the airport. He promised to call me in a couple of days. That was two and half weeks ago and I haven't heard a word. He gave me no permanent address and the company he said he was auditing has no record of such a person.

I am afraid something terrible happened to him. I can't believe he was stringing me along. What do you think? — Zamboanga

Dear Zam: I think something terrible happened all right, but it happened to you, not him.

If the man were on the level you would have heard something by this time. Experience is what you have after you've made a mistake and have nothing else to show for it. So now, honey, you've got experience. Learn from it.

Scrambling Necessary In Bridge

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A good bridge player should copy the tactics of a good quarterback. If the opponents get through your line and head in your direction, you must scramble to safety. Standing your ground won't get you anything but bruises.

When today's hand was played in the recent National Team Championship in New Orleans, West made a rather doubtful takeout double of South's minimum opening bid of one club. North passed, hoping the opponents would get into trouble, and East quietly passed the double.

Since East was one of the greatest players in the game, South should have expected a disaster if he stayed in clubs. South should have scrambled by bidding one heart on the theory that clubs were surely sour but hearts might not be.

If allowed to play the hand at hearts South would probably get eight tricks. If West bid diamonds he would probably make eight or nine tricks. Either way, no big score would be made. Somebody would make a small partial or would collect a penalty of 50 points or so.

Stands His Ground

The actual South player stood his ground, and West opened his singleton club. South could have saved a trick by leading a diamond after taking the first trick with the king of clubs. He would eventually get a diamond ruff.

South actually led a heart to dummy's king and returned a spade. East stepped up with the ace of spades and led the queen of clubs to force out the ace. Now South took one spade, but East ruffed the next spade and drew trumps. West took the rest with top diamonds and the ace of hearts.

South's courage cost him a penalty of 500 points. It doesn't always pay to be brave.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q J 8 3; H-K J 8 3; D-J 7 5 2; C-6. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond. With two or three 4-card suits, make the cheapest response to partner's opening bid. If he can bid either hearts or spades, you will be happy to raise; if he cannot, you will not miss a good major-suit contract.

Valparaiso Unit Greets National Guild Director

Mrs. E. H. Ruprecht, executive director of the National Valparaiso University Guild, Valparaiso, Ind., was guest of honor at a luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Fred Froehlich, 1406 N. Union St. Mrs. Ruth Gehrke, director of Deaconess Hall at the university, accompanied Mrs. Ruprecht to Appleton.

Mrs. Forrest Muck, president of the Appleton Guild, was cohostess. Mrs. Froehlich is first vice president and president-elect of the national guild.

When the group met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. W. Russler, 325 E. Mac Arthur St., Mrs. Kenneth Engleman presented a program, "Abstract Art Appreciation.

Valparaiso Guild will sponsor a benefit card party Feb. 7 at the Home Mutuals Insurance Building. Dessert will be served at 7:30 p.m. and there will be a prize at each table. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Ira Lecy, 1503 W. Franklin St.

'Corned' Meant Dry Salt Corns

"Corned" originally meant preserved by embedding in dry salt corns. At that time, corns referred to large, coarse grains and applied not only to salt but to sugar corns as well. Today's improved corning process is wet. Meats are immersed in a highly concentrated salt brine or pickling solution. Sugar and spices are added to aid in curing, and also to enhance the flavor of such corned meats as beef brisket or tongue.

Lovelier You

Disposable Tools

You could have a drawer full of excellent cosmetics but they would be less than effective if you lacked efficient applicators. A threadbare powder puff, for instance, can only make a blotchy job of powdering.

Here's where the disposable beauty tools make sense. At small cost, a fresh one is at hand and in working order. Take the soft cosmetic puff as an example. Besides powdering your nose to perfection, it has a dozen grooming uses.

Cosmetic puffs are excellent for removing make-up and applying skin treatments. The're indispensable adjuncts to manicures and pedicures. In the care of the scalp they're a cleanliness boon. Perhaps the best thing about them is lintlessness. This virtue is built into their construction.

A delicate texture constitutes a second virtue. Pure, white and soft, puffs are fit for baby. For use around your eyes, too.

A fashion model passes on this tip for the refreshment of tired eyes:

Brew a cup of weak tea and cool it until lukewarm. Dip in two soft puffs and then squeeze out the excess moisutre. Apply to closed eyes for 15 minutes. This tack relieves fatigue and also reduces any puffiness under the eyes.

Common Cold Has Tormented Man Since Beginning of Time

Who sneezed first — Adam or Eve?

Nobody knows. But it seems reasonable to assume that even the Garden of Eden was invaded by the coughs, sneezes, and wheezes of man's most persistent affliction, the common cold.

Outnumbering other diseases by an estimated 25 to one, the cold has played a role in the economy, history, and literature of all nations. An accurate description of its symptoms was written by Charles Dickens:

"I am at this moment deaf in the ears, hoarse in the throat, red in the nose, green in the gills, damp in the eyes, twitchy in the joints and fractious in temper from a most intolerant and oppressive cold."

Expensive Disease

According to American Medical Association reports, more than 20 million of us are suffering similar discomforts on this or any other wintry day. The cost to the national economy, in terms of time lost from work and wages paid for non-production, has been calculated as high as five billion dollars annually.

Many of us, accepting the common cold as a disagreeable but unavoidable fact of life, fail to follow certain simple precautions which can shorten its duration and protect us from more serious complications.

A cold, first of all, should be treated with respect. Some of its indications are similar to those of influenza (which is sweeping the country this year) and, in severe cases, may lead to pneumonia and other complications. So it's wise to know the difference. Certain symptoms, such as chills and fever, rapidly rising temperature, difficult breathing, or pain in the chest or side, are danger signals that call for prompt investigation by your doctor.

General Symptoms

Assuming no complications, your present or next cold will be identified by the usual miseries — a dry, scratchy, irritated feeling in the nose or back of the throat in the early stages, perhaps a slight rise in temperature and, in full bloom, the familiar sneezing, coughing, and "stopped up" nose and head.

Those with a philosophical disposition may welcome the symptoms of the common cold because they represent the body's effort to resist the infection. The sluffy nose is suffused with extra blood for defensive purposes and its air passages are partially closed with an excess of mucus to wash out the invading virus. Sneezing and coughing are attempts to remove irritation from the respiratory tract.

Droplet Infection

Remember that colds literally are "caught," with the usual method of transmission by droplet infection spread by the sneezing, coughing, or even talking, of someone already infected. Your chances of avoiding colds are best if you can avoid those who have one, and if you keep in good physical condition with a well-balanced diet, plenty of rest, and proper protection against inclement weather.

Although there is no cure for a cold in this age of vital organ transplants and space exploration, ways have been found to treat the symptoms — making the condition more endurable and our biological defenses more effective.

Medically - approved non-prescription remedies for the symptoms of coughs and colds can be used judiciously. It is always wise to consult your doctor if you are in doubt about the treatment or procedures to be followed, or if symptoms persist.

Rest and Medication

Rest in bed is recommended at least during the first few days to give your body a chance to mobilize its defenses — and also to prevent giving the infection to others. Aspirin or one of the combination symptomatic remedies, nose drops, steam and-or inhaled medications that shrink the membranes of the nose, and plenty of fluids — such as fruit juices — can be helpful.

If yours is an average cold, it will have run its course in five to 10 days. And if you make use of the modern medications and advice on treatment now available, the experience will be more tolerable than that of either Adam or Eve — who had to find out for themselves.

Courreges is Hippie; Castillo Says Elegance in Paris Shows

PARIS (AP)—The spring and summer fashion marathon moved along today as Castillo showed his models for the elegant women. The whole picture is glamorous.

Source of inspiration is the Concorde supersonic passanger plane, with focus on sleeves. The sleeves are like wings—enormously wide and long for evening: on chatelaine line and kimono-styled for daytime.

Little Suits

His little suit steps briskly through spring-time, belted in wide chevreau kid. He showed striped black and white stocks —also polka dotted—which often match the hat.

The noisiest, sexiest collection in Paris was shown by Courreges, who had abandoned his constructivist geometry and gone almost hippie. His hemlines are also the shortest in town.

The collection opened with an African Negro bounding onto the stage and doing a voluptuous rhythmic tribal dance to the beat of tomtoms and hot jazz. Then two, three and sometimes four young models jumped in and started their calisthenics, leaping and bouncing to the music, which changed from time to time to nostalgic slow tunes.

Full of Pop Tunes

Courreges concentrates on Lolitas. The clothes are for the teen-ager full of pep. At times she carried a long red cigarette holder. At other times she appears hiding behind welder's goggles in square or round shapes. Sometimes the goggles become a mask with cat eye slits, like car lanterns.

Courreges' spring and summer picture is told on white, contrasted with bright red, nasturtium orange, pale pink, blue, and quite a bit of navy. In many cases he does extremely suggestive things: two plastic portholes are inserted into the back of culottes. Hip yokes simulate swim tunics and are joined to a circular flounce.

At least half the collection is culottes. The balance is divided between full bouffant bloomers and short circular skirts. His hemlines are normally six or seven inches above the knee.

Pockets Importance

Patch pockets are most important. Often oversize, they "make" the dress. Sometimes they are functional. Pockets are slotted onto the belt in saddle bag style. Some pockets are kingsize, with double gussets, built into the coat.

One suit has the back of the skirt decorated in flowers. A discotheque dress has a plunging navel neckline belted with a ruffle front and culottes.

For the first time, Courreges shows demure little girl crepe dresses known as the "petite robe ans histoire." A white Claudine collar is the only trimming, besides the belt. Many models are scallopped.

A model did a quick strip tease in see-through organdie and swiss broderie. She opened the matching top of her dress to reveal bare breasts with two red flowers placed at strategic points.

Headlines Still Claimed by Billy Rose

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Next to women, Billy Rose loved headlines. He even shortened his name from William Rosenberg to accommodate the headline writers.

Two years after his death he's still in the news as his wives and sisters battle in courts over his burial and the disposition of his estate.

"I think Billy planned it that way. Otherwise, why did he omit the 'no contest' clause in his will?" asked his sister Polly Rose Gottlieb, who with sister Miriam recently lost one legal round (not final) of protest.

Finished Biography

Mrs. Gottlieb is doing her best to give him the attention he adored. She has just finished his biography, "The Nine Lives of Billy Rose," which is sure to raise some hackles.

"I'm the only person alive who had the kind of relationship with him that could possibly write this book," said the author who usually paints instead of writes. "The closest thing to his heart was to have his biography written. He had Maurice Zolotow write it with the stipulation that if he didn't like it he could pay him $25,000 to bury it. And he did."

(Earl Conrad has also written a book about the many-faceted man which Mrs. Gottlieb describes as "unauthorized.")

The supershowman who also excelled as a song writer, columnist and financier was a well publicized failure at what he wanted most, as he often said himself, "to be a happily married man."

Considered Sixth

He was about to try for the sixth time with a woman he had already married twice, Joyce Mathews, when he changed his mind a few weeks before his death in Jamaica.

If Eleanor Holm, his second wife, had had "the stomach to take all the publicity that Billy's Joyce Mathews received in the newspapers," according to his sister Polly, that marriage might not have ended in divorce.

"As far as Billy was concerned his excursions into boy-girl land were purely functional and had nothing to do with his home and family."

Bought Stocks

Breaking up with Eleanor forced Billy to become a rich man, she says. "His private world really fell apart. That's why he locked himself up in his rooms and began to make a study of the stock market." (Buying New York Central and A T and T stocks made him one of the wealthiest men in the world.)

Though Miss Holm comes off as a darling, and his first wife Fanny Brice an understanding soul whose fame wounded Billy's ego, the third venture with Joyce Mathews is not described as prettily. According to Mrs. Gottlieb, Joyce's overdependenc on pills discouraged Billy and sent him to Mexico for their second divorce.

Though Mrs. Gottlieb's treatment of Miss Mathews seems harsh, she says, "I have been very kind and Joyce knows it," although she admits that Miss Mathews has not seen the book.

"It's a rough, tough book about Billy," she says. "My aim is to make you understand him."

In her efforts she enlightens her readers on such matters as why there was never a Billy Rose Jr., his occasional impotency, women who also ran but never became Mrs. Rose, and lays to rest the rumored living ghosts of Billy Rose.

Altogether there is enough in the book to assure headlines for the length of nine more lives.

Billy Rose and His sister, Polly, hold a net for catching injured birds. The photograph was taken in 1962 on Billy's island estate.

Adds Flourishes To Kitchen Tasks

You can sometimes reuse a cinnamon stick just as you would a vanilla bean. Remove the cinnamon stick from the mixture in which it was heated, rinse in water and let dry; wrap tightly in plastic wrap and it will be ready for service.

A little leftover red wine may be heated with currant jelly and used as a sauce for pork or broiled chicken.

Only Use Color You Like in Your Home

By VIVIAN BROWN

Do colors frustrate you? Do you have the feeling that you'd like to paint your home a wild color or put offbeat colors on your walls or furniture?

If you are afraid to put your ideas into practice, you are like millions of other people who are perplexed by color, says Harold Schwartz. Pittsburgh-born designer of interior furnishings who has studied art, sculpture, architecture and interior design here and abroad.

You can get over color fear by using only the colors you like, he explains.

Selecting Colors

"No one can ever go wrong, if he lets himself go in selecting colors that appeal to him — no matter how many. You go wrong only when you try to use colors that you think should be used.

"Sit down with swatches of colors and say I like this . . . this . . . this . . . as many as you like." Now—they should look good, he says, unless you are color-blind.

"One should never say, 'I like this color but it isn't fashionable.' Use it if you like it."

People are becoming braver about colors every day, he points out. Color combinations are accepted that one would have thought hideous a decade or so ago. Pink and red has become almost commonplace. Orange combined with shocking pink is a striking combination. Yellow, pink and orange are used together. Bright blues and vivid greens are popular. Brown and black are considered chic.

World Preferences

Schwartz has been surprised by color preferences in some areas of the world. In Paris, he was startled to find that home furnishings buyers prefer muddy colors.

He showed designs in rugs and matching bedspreads that he has made in Spain—vivid shocking pink and white in the striking design for which he is known. The Parisians chose bronzes, purples and other deep tones.

Further north, they could not get the colors too brilliant. Sweden often is associated with pastels but Stockholm buyers selected the brightest colors he had to offer.

"Countries that do not have much sunlight want to bring it into furnishings. They like all the color you can give them. Brussels and Amsterdam enjoy color and in Brussels they use rugs as table coverings, he explains.

Spain, unlike colorful travel posters advertising flamenco dancers and bullfighters, prefers pastel and other soft colors and 18th century design.

Well-Known Designer

Schwartz has designed fabrics, lighting fixtures and is a well-known designer of furniture, credited with introducing the sculptured look, engineered storage and multipurpose furniture.

While on a sabbatical in Spain more than a decade ago, he became interested in Spanish design, concentrating on bedspreads and rugs made on the Jacquard loom. His new interest sparked a trend to the Mediterranean look in the United States. But that fad has had it in his opinion.

His new designs are inspired by periods ranging from early Coptic to space age avant-garde. Design tricks with the Jacquard loom give his spreads a sculptured-to-the-bed look. Schwartz worked on one design for more than two years.

He doesn't feel that he is going out on a limb with strong colors and bold designs. On the contrary, they are snapped up so fast that he has difficulty keeping the supply equal to the demand.

Green Bay Firm Moves to Appleton

Leo K. McKee, Inc., Distributes Office Products in 2-State Area

Leo K McKee Inc., an office products distributing center, has shifted its home office from Green Bay to Appleton

Beginning today its headquarters are at 124 W Wisconsin Ave, according to Frank Zimmer, president and treasurer of the firm

Zimmer

Zimmer, an Appleton native who lives at 427 E. Byrd St., purchased the company two years ago from the original founders

Prior to then, Zimmer had been a salesman for five years with International Business Machines Corp.

The firm, which employs a staff of five sales specialists doing business in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, handles a complete line of supplies for computer and copying machines, bookkeeping, typing and other office requirements.

The firm founded 20 years ago in Green Bay, is a member of the National Office Products Manufacturing Association.

Zimmer said the shift to Appleton would provide the company with a better location to serve its customers in the two state area.

"Besides I was born and raised in Appleton and feel its a good place to do business," commented Zimmers, who said his firm was the "largest office products center of its type north of Milwaukee," serving as a distributor for five office supply manufacturing firms.

Zimmer attended Appleton schools and Marquette University. He also served in the U. S. Army for two years.

Health Gap Is Broad Between Rich and Poor

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In life expectancy among nations today, the U.S. ranks an abominable 22nd for men, 10th for women. In this area we have made no significant improvement in the past two decades.

In infant mortality rates, we rank 15th — after such nations as Australia, Iceland, France, Belgium. And in some U.S. counties, infant mortality rates are three times higher than the national average.

One-half of American women who have their babies in public hospitals get no pre-natal care whatever. In depressed areas of the U.S., the mortality rate for pregnant mothers is six times the national average. A shocking two out of three poor children have never seen a dentist. Nearly one in five Americans has never visited a dentist

Frightening Fact

Of course, we are proud of the enormous strides the U.S. has made in conquering disease, in extending a wide range of health services to the poor and the aged, in mass immunizations of younger Americans, in the development of medical technology.

But, just because we are so proud, we are pushing from our minds a frightening fact: the huge and steadily widening gap between our highest quality and average quality health care.

For millions of Americans still, a "visit to the doctor" means waiting for hours at a distant clinic, giving up a full day of work, and a brief brusque confrontation resulting in a prescription. The shiny, sterile hospital to which many of us are accustomed simply is not in the same class as the shabby, obsolete, ill-attended public hospital available to the less well-to-do. Similarly, the doctor's house call which you expect in an emergency is unknown to the underprivileged individual. While you may take for granted the availability of the latest mechanical or electronic medical gear and therapeutic or surgical techniques, this gear and these techniques just are not available to millions.

The health gap is enormous and it is deepening, between the white and the Negro American The infant mortality rate for non-whites in this country, for example, compares with that of such nations as Poland, Jamaica or Brunei on the coast of Borneo.

Enormous Gap

The health gap also is enormous between the average U.S. family and the poor family. Adults in poor families, studies show, have six times more mental illness and retardation than those in higher income brackets, 10 times more visual troubles, and four times more disabling heart disease.

What is the economic significance of the health gap? Dr Charles Mayo of the famed Mayo Clinic once put it this way: "Sickness makes people poor; poverty makes people sick."

In the New York-New Jersey region, confirms the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, bad health ranks second only to educational deficiency as a key factor behind the widespread undereemployment rates in this area. The cost tomorrow of economic dependency of those whose health is being undermined today is impossible to calculate.

More money, more doctors, more nurses and more hospitals alone won't be enough to close the health gaps, most medical observers agree. Instead, an imperative is an entirely new look at the way in which medical care is delivered, particularly to the poor and to the aged.

Tomorrow's column will outline details of a new, radical attack on the health gap.

Zoo Gets Python From Vietnam

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Zoo has a present from the jungles of Vietnam. It's a 16-foot, 100-pound python.

The snake is the gift of Army Lt. William A. Willey, the husband of a Portland woman.

Willey captured the python while on patrol in December.

The snake was taken to Saigon by helicopter and shipped to Portland by jet airplane. The zoo paid the freight bill.

Willey named the snake Willie. The zoo put him in a cage with Portland's only other python, Bettina. It turned out that Willie is a female. Bettina is a male.

More Than 300 People of various denominations attended the second annual Festival of Prayer for Unity Sunday at Lawrence Chapel Sunday. Leading the procession of ministers are the Rev. Carl Wilke, right, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Orville Janssen, pastor, St. Bernard Catholic Church. The festival was sponsored by the Appleton Area Clergymens Association. People Must Have No Apathy

Threat So Big It Can Not be Ignored May be Needed to Unite Christians

It may take a threat so big that we won't be able to close our eyes to it, and a task so huge it will cross all denominational lines to bring Christendom together again, a noted ecumenist told an audience of about 350 here Sunday evening.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur Vogel, professor of theology at Nashotah Episcopal seminary in Wisconsin, spoke at the second annual Festival of Prayer for Unity at Lawrence Chapel.

"The Next Step" in ecumension was the appropriate title of his sermon at the service sponsored by the Appleton Area Clergy Association, a group composed of ministers of various denominations.

"If we are to be aroused, we may need to face a crisis of such proportions that we have no one to rely on but God alone," the speaker said, adding that it may be through threats and crises that God is telling us it is time for a renewal.

First Step

Touching on the first step in the attempt at ecumenism, Dr. Vogel explained that so far many official delegates of various denominations are talking to each other.

"The next step is to take it from official delegates talking to each other at a conference table to the people," said the member of the Joint Committee on Ecumenical Relations of the Episcopal Church.

After all, he said, religion can't be programmed at a conference table. There are 27 different schemes for ecumenism in as many countries but none will do any good if there is apathy on the part of the people.

"Apathy is the biggest threat to religion and ecumenism," the Angelican minister said.

"The real atheist is not the one who argues the existence of God but the person who can't be bothered, and it is this lack of concern that can, and often does, kill ecumenism," Dr. Vogel said.

If apathy is the problem participation and involvement is the solution, the minister told his audience.

Many Areas

There are many areas in which the people can get and have gotten involved, he said. Sharing retreats, small group discussions, participation in programs to solve some of the urban crises, attempts to keep the church programs up to date and in step with the modern times are all areas for togetherness, Dr. Vogel said.

"Prayer for ecumenism, of course, is no small step because it can lead to action, but faith without works is dead," he said.

A task for the ministers and leaders could be further involvement in the various conferences and consultations among the denominations.

"After all, we at the conference tables are talking about common problems which influence each of us," he said.

Returning to his title, "The Next Step," the speaker compared ecumenism to an infant.

"It has many aspects of infancy. There is some order to walking. Each step takes resolve, requires rhythm, poise, balance, motive and desire and each step involves a real risk," he said.

First Step

For some the next ecumenical step will be the second but for the vast majority of Christians it will be only the first, Dr. Vogel said.

"It takes a body to walk," he said, "and the Bible states that the church is the body of Christ."

We will never succeed if we think ecumenism is only a special area of Christianity; it happens to be coincidental with Christianity. So as long as we haven't gotten together, we are not Christians in the true sense of the word, the speaker stressed.

"Only total unity can be the goal but it is important to remember that this unity does not mean conformity."

"There must, by human necessity, be differences but these differences can be respected and enjoyed; they will enrich rather than divide us."

the Anglican minister emphasized.

Ecumenicity must succeed totally; partial success would be contradictory to all we believe, he said.

"It is not enough for various denominations to unite. To end with larger size groups opposing each other with larger voices is no unity at all," Dr. Vogel concluded.

Sign Posts To be Painted But by Who?

Appleton's rusty street-sign posts are going to get a fresh coat of paint.

The only problem confronting the city council's public safety committee is how to proceed.

Vernal G. Remter, a member of the police department, has submitted an offer to remove rust and old scale from steel posts and repaint them at a cost of $2,200.

Remter suggested 2,000 posts could be repainted this year and the remainder in 1969.

He said his basic fee for the entire job would be $1.10 per post, paint included.

However, the committee has also been in contact with the city welfare department to see whether the city can hire welfare recipients to do the work.

City officials are generally agreed that posts in many sectors of the city "represent an eyesore."

Police Investigate Two Apparent Suicide Attempts

Two Appleton women were hospitalized Sunday night following what police said were apparent separate suicide attempts.

A 50-year-old woman reportedly was "not responding well to treatment" this morning after being taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 7:10 p.m. Sunday by the fire department rescue squad.

Police said the west-side woman swallowed an overdose of sleeping pills. Her husband notified authorities.

A 21-year-old woman was taken by ambulance to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 10:40 p.m. Sunday after she took an overdose of medication after she had been drinking.

Police are continuing investigation into both matters.

Blood Found in Abandoned Car From a Human

Jansen's Murderer Believed to Have Escaped in Auto

Blood found on the inside of a car believed to have been stolen by Martin Jansen's killer was from a human, according to State Crime Laboratory technicians.

Outagamie County Sheriff Norbert J. Marx said, following receipt of the crime laboratory report this morning, that the blood found in the 1960 Buick is believed to be from Jansen, 34, who was killed early the morning of Jan. 20 at Cloud Buick, Inc., where he was a part-time night custodian.

Investigators believe that some of Jansen's blood was spattered on the killer.

Crime laboratory technicians said that blood taken from Jansen during a post-mortem examination was found to be type A-m. However, because of the small amount of blood found on the inside of the 1960 Buick, technicians could not positively match the samples.

Killer Stole Auto

Authorities believe Jansen's killer stole the auto from Cloud Buick Co. then abandoned it in the Elm Tree Bakery parking lot, a half mile west. There were small blood spots on the inside of the left front door and door window.

Blood samples also were taken from a metal door bar at Cloud Buick Co., and these, too, were found to be from a human. It is believed the burglar-killer exited through the west door.

Many items of evidence, including body tissue, parts of the 1960 auto, and Jansen's clothing were taken to the crime laboratory. The report received today by Marx and Coroner Bernard Kemps commented only on the blood samples.

Meanwhile, sheriff's investigators continue following up on information being called in by citizens. Most of the information concerns suspicious autos and persons seen in the area of Cloud Buick before, approximately the same time, and after the crime.

Jansen was shot twice in the head and face with a 20-gauge shotgun.

Burglar Nets $100; Possible Connection With 2 Other Attempts

Appleton detectives are investigating a burglary and two attempted burglaries in a three-block area on W. College Avenue.

An estimated $100 was taken from a cash register at Appleton Pharmacy, 601 W. College Ave., sometime after 11 p.m. Sunday. Entry into the building was gained by smashing a door window on the east side. Police said no drugs appeared to be missing.

Unsuccessful attempts were made to enter Ford Rexall Drug Store, 322 W. College Ave., and Becker's Typewriter Shop, 510 W. College Ave. Police believe there is a connection between the three offenses.

Gov. Romney to Seek Votes Here Saturday

Michigan Presidential Aspirant Will Visit Shopping Center, Meet People on College Ave.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan — his presidential nomination hopes on the line in upcoming New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries — will come to Appleton Saturday to drum up votes.

The Republican contender, expected to be Richard Nixon's principal rival on the Wisconsin ballot, will have a whirlwind campaign schedule.

Romney will be in Madison Saturday morning and will fly here, arriving at the Outagamie County Airport at 2 p.m., where he is to be met by Clarence A. Mitchell, Outagamie County Republican chairman, and Jack Stenz, who heads Appleton's "Romney for President" group.

'Romney Girls'

Also to be on the welcoming committee and expected to accompany the presidential hopeful while in the city will be an escort of "Romney Girls" — coeds from Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh.

It will be Romney's first appearance in the Appleton area since making the formal announcement he would run for the presidency.

Earlier in the winter Romney met with county Republicans at a get-acquainted dinner at Nino's.

Latest state and national polls have cast Gov. Romney in the role of the underdog in the Republican Party scramble for presidential endorsement.

However, the Romney campaign is starting to gain momentum and the organizational work being put into his Appleton appearance is indicative of that fact.

Romney's schedule will have him going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Tess, 1469 W. Taylor St., shortly after his arrival at the airport, where he will discuss the campaign with guests.

The Michigan governor then will be whisked to a shopping center on W. College Avenue in Grand Chute where he will shake hands and meet-the-people at about 2:30 p.m.

Romney's campaigning also will take him to downtown Appleton later in the afternoon where he will meet people on College Avenue while walking from the corner of Superior and College to the Romney Headquarters building at 302 E. College Ave.

A 15-minute press conference will be held by Romney at his local headquarters, followed by informal conferences with his followers.

Those in charge of arrangements for Romney's visit said the governor's meeting with the press and other activity at 302 E College Ave. will be open to the general public.

After winding up his afternoon campaign stint here, Romney will go to Green Bay for more rounds of speeches, meetings and handshaking at night.

Romney will have been the first of the announced 1968 presidential candidates to come to Appleton.

An Appleton Teamsters Union official has been elevated to one of the chief policymaking positions in the 33,000-member Wisconsin Joint Council of Teamsters.

He is Robert Schlieve, 1026 Ridge Lane, who is the new vice president of the council's executive board.

Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Appleton Local 563, was appointed to the post at Green Bay Friday.

Milton J. Veleke, Eau Claire, moved up from vice president to president, and Donald Eaton of Madison succeeded Schlieve as recording secretary.

Frank H. Ranney, Milwaukee Local 200, retained the top post of secretary-treasurer. He is chief international organizer for Wisconsin.

5,500 Members

The Teamsters Union now has more than 5,500 members in this part of the Fox Valley, including an estimated 1,800 in Appleton Local 563; 2,500 in Green Bay Local 75; and 1,500 in Oshkosh-Fond du Lac Local 126.

Schlieve, considered one of the most effective organizers and negotiators in the Wisconsin Teamsters organization, will continue to perform his regular duties here with Local 563.

He has been a member of the Teamsters since April of 1939, becoming an organizer in 1951.

Robert E. Schlieve

A native of Watertown, Schlieve worked in Teamster organizing units in Chicago and Milwaukee before coming here in April of 1953 from Milwaukee Local 200.

The membership of the Appleton local, which covers most of the Fox Cities region, has doubled since Schlieve assumed the office of secretary-treasurer and chief negotiator.

Wisconsin Legislators Blast Johnson's Budget Proposals

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Two Wisconsin Republicans today blasted President Johnson's better than $186 billion budget for the fiscal year commencing July 1.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, which handles bills earmarking funds for all federal programs, condemned the President's statements on receipts and outlays.

"President Johnson's anticipated tax receipts are over estimated and his appropriation outlays are underestimated," Laird, who is chairman of the House Republican Conference, complained.

The Wisconsin legislator predicted that "the $8 billion deficit projection given by the President will be closer to $15 billion even if the surtax increases are granted." He pointed out that Johnson historically estimated budget deficits much lower than they actually turned out to be. Last year, as an example, Laird said that the budget deficit was more than 100 per cent higher than Mr. Johnson said it would be when his budget message was presented in January in 1967.

Spending Captive

Representative John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, charged that President Johnson's budget request proved that "this administration is captive to the spending explosion it touched off in the 89th Congress under the guise of building a great society."

To point up this charge, Byrnes said that the present spending proposals show an increase of more than $17 billion in non-defense spending over the past two years. During the same period defense spending was up $11.5 billion.

"The present budget makes it clear that this administration is so irrevocably committed to increased spending that it has neither the will nor the competency to face up to the dollar crises at home and abroad."

The Green Bay legislator, who is the top Republican on the tax writing Ways and Means Committee recommended as a remedy for the nation's present fiscal problems the election of a new leadership which would not be committed to past mistakes of the present administration.

He plans to enter jet flight training after graduation this spring. Melnick has been honored in ROTC by membership in the Arnold Air Society, and has received the Distinguished Military Cadet Award.

Ecumenical Panel to Eye Housing Needs

An open meeting regarding low cost housing for the elderly has been scheduled by the Steering Committee on Ecumenical Activities (SCEA) at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the First Congregational Church.

Panelists will be Walter Rasmussen, city planner, Mrs. R. H. Reeves, of the United Community Services, and Mrs. Winton Schumaker, representing FISH, a community volunteer emergency service.

A short business meeting for members of SCEA is set at 7:30 p.m.

Wrightstown Man Hurt In One-Car Accident

KAUKAUNA — Ronald Coffey, 27, 404 Main St., Wrightstown, was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital for treatment of undetermined injuries following an accident about 1:20 a.m. today.

According to police, Coffey was traveling north on Green Bay Road and lost control of his car when he attempted to pass another vehicle, went off the road and broke off a power pole, continued on and broke off a small evergreen tree, and ended up in a plowed field about 300 feet from the initial point of impact with the pole.

Coffey was taken to the hospital by the city ambulance.

Buckley Files For Re-Election To Mayor's Post

Primary in March Assured With Two More Yet to File

Mayor George Buckley — declaring he will "emphasize the positive . . . not the negative" — made it official today that he will be running for a second term.

Buckley became the third candidate to file nomination papers with the city clerk's office and set the stage for a March 5 mayoral primary.

Others already in the race are Alds. Roy Pointer (14th) and William Wachtendonk (3rd).

Two other Appleton residents who announced a few weeks ago they would seek the mayor's job and took out papers have not filed yet. They are former mayor Clarence A. Mitchell and City Welfare Director Merton Ehricke.

The deadline for filing is Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Mayoral aspirants in previous statements have charged there is a lack of leadership at city hall, among other things.

In another pre-election development involving major city offices, City Attorney David Geenen filed papers for another term. It is expected he will have no opposition for the $14,500 a year job of being a small evergreen tree, and fulltime legal counsel to the city.

Yet to be heard from are two announced candidates for assessor, one for clerk and one for school board.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur Vogel, right, professor of theology at Nashotah Episcopal seminary and a noted ecumenist, was the featured speaker at the second annual Festival of Prayer for Unity Sunday, sponsored by the Appleton Area Clergymens Association. Vocational Institute Site Pick Now Called Premature

VTE-12 Officials Give Opinion To Head Off Four-County Feud

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH - MENASHA—Vocational school officials today took the position that any proposals for site selection of a technical institute for the VTE-12 district are "premature."

The statements were made to head off any possibility of conflict of interests in the four county area served by the VTE-12 District.

The possibility of a site struggle loomed last week when the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce listed "priority projects" for 1968, one of which is to "insist on a new technical school for the Oshkosh area."

The Outagamie County board acted on Nov. 8 to offer 100 acres of county owned land on the old county farm site at W. Wisconsin Avenue and U.S. 41 for the future Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 school.

At the same time the board authorized Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, to appoint a special committee to approach Winnebago County, on the possibility of deeding the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center, jointly operated by the two counties, over to the vocational district. This idea has made no headway.

Oshkosh Position

M. Edward Kelly, chamber executive vice president, told members last week that under the new district Vocational, Technical and Adult Education organization in District 12, it was authorized to construct one or more new area schools. Could be authorized.

It is the intent of the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce to press for two schools, one of them in Oshkosh, since the proposed Outagamie site would not serve Oshkosh, Kelly said.

Too Early

"This is no time for this kind of speculation," William Sirek, director of VTE-12 said today. "It bothers me that someone is building up to a hassle when the facts are just now being put together to determine the need for a technical institute."

To date, no decision has been made as to what kind of technical institute District 12 will have, nor where it will be located. Dominic Bordini, former director of the Kaukauna Vocational and Adult School, in his new position as head of research for the district, is gathering all of the facts on the needs, the location, the program and long-range needs for District 12.

"I cannot give you a date as to when this material will be ready for us to take a look at the facts and act upon them," Sirek said.

"It is a necessary process and we have been gathering facts for less than one month."

This position was confirmed by Russ Johnson, chairman of the VTE-12 board. "First we have to gather the data to justify such a central facility," he said. "We know it is needed, but we have to compile the facts and present them to the State Vocational Board.

"It is all in the process of being worked out. When we justify the facility, then we will look at site proposals, considering where it will serve the most people and be the most accessible," he added.

He added that the board has received only one formal site proposal, the 100 acres of the Outagamie County farm at Highways 41 and 10. "This was tabled and no action taken. There have been a number of other suggestions, not formally offered, but we are not ready to look at any of them at this point," he concluded.

The statements from both men are in alignment with the original and unchanged plans of the State Vocational Board.

"It is our thinking that there will be one technical institute in VTE-12, with a comprehensive program," said Eugene Lehrman, assistant director, Madison, today. "This is the number one priority — the development of one such comprehensive program in one institute."

The location of that institute will also have to meet the State Vocational Board's criteria for the four-county area, which is to serve the center of the population, to create equal travel distance from all parts of the district and ready access for all, according to Lehrman.

He questioned whether the state body would give any consideration to building a new satellite school in District 12 before the technical institute is completed. There are only six satellite schools in the newly created vocational districts in the state at this time, among them, Beaver Dam, Watertown, Ft. Atkinson and the one under construction at Antigo in District 15.

Appleton to Get $1.5 Million for Water Project

HUD Announces One Phase Should be Finished Within Year

The multi-million dollar expansion of Appleton's water plant and pipeline to Lake Winnebago should start within three months, a top federal official said today.

Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) issued a statement from Washington that the city has been assured $1.5 million in federal financing.

Weaver indicated a phase of the water project should be completed within a year from the start of construction but did not say which one.

Weaver's announcement came as city officials and representatives of the Appleton Water Department prepared to meet Tuesday with Chicago consultants so final plans can be approved and the awarding of contracts completed this spring.

$4.5 Million Cost

The overall expansion project will cost an estimated $4.5 million, including the $1.5 million federal grant.

Had the city not received federal aid it would have had to drop part of the project.

One phase will consist of a major addition to the filtration plant.

The other will include construction of a water intake line, pumping station, and transmission line from Lake Winnebago to the plant.

"The program (grant-in-aid) was enacted to aid and encourage communities to build water and sewer facilities to promote their efficient and orderly growth and development," Weaver said.

Consistent With Planning

He pointed out that as a prerequisite to eligibility for federal assistance, such projects had to be consistent with area-wide planning and development.

Weaver said the Appleton project "will increase the quantity and quality of water supply for the city".

City officials now have given the water expansion program first priority, and will apply for necessary right-of-way and construction permits, including one from the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Slipping and Sliding, Four Safety Council skid testers drive over nine acres of clean and polished ice near Stevens Point. The tests, scheduled Jan. 29-Feb. 9, measure skid distances and are part of the National Safety Council's annual winter tests.

Winter Tests in Stevens Point

Safety Council Drivers Start Sliding Around

Special to the Post-Crescent

STEVENS POINT — The ice skating penguin and more than a quarter-million dollars worth of test equipment today transformed this small city into the Skid Sapitol of the World.

The penguin, pictured skidding across an ice-blue field, is the symbol of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. He shows up on a shoulder patch worn by members of the committee.

Equipment ranges from a $75,000 combination of friction test trailer and towing truck to a small, glass pyrheliometer bulb valued at $350. All of it is used in the annual winter tests conducted here by the council.

Friction trailers are instrumented so a controlled amount of brake effect can be applied to trailer wheels and the result can be measured. They're used to test various kinds of tires and surfaces. The pyrheliometer bulb — looking like an old-fashioned, over-size light bulb — measures the amount of solar radiation being received at the test site.

Skidding Distance Tests

Four passenger cars also will be used. Test drivers will slide them across carefully polished glare ice at carefully measured speeds, to correlate skidding distances on various tires with the friction trailer results.

Other tests planned for the two-week session include:

—Evaluating the steering, braking and stability of triple tractor-trailer units (three trailers behind a towing tractor) on glare ice.

—Measuring the abrasive characteristics of salt spreads (not their effectiveness in melting ice or snow).

—Checking the performance of "siped" passenger car tires (thin cuts in the tread to improve traction).

—Testing the performance of a commercial device claimed to prevent uncontrolled skids while braking.

For the test session, about 40 experts — auto company engineers, tire specialists, university professors, product development engineers, and others — gather here each year. Duties are assigned to each, but they are rarely in keeping with the relatively exalted positions the skid testers hold while at home.

Some experts, for example, are assigned to keep the nine acres of ice clean, smooth and polished. Others will spend almost the entire test session changing tires, driving test vehicles across the ice, making weather observations, or any of a variety of other duties — almost all of them cold.

After the conclusion of its regular two-week test session, the committee will conduct a series of two-day skid schools for college and university professors who will, in turn, pass on what they learn to their students. And their students will be the driver education teachers for tomorrow's high school pupils. The committee hopes to stimulate the creation of similar skid schools in local communities throughout the nation's "snow belt."

March of Dimes Toll Bridge Nets $1,188 Saturday

LITTLE CHUTE — Despite inclement weather which kept many motorists off the road, $1,188 was collected by Legionnaires from Little Chute, Kimberly and Combined Locks in the annual March of Dimes toll bridge on the Community Bridge Saturday.

Donations are credited to respective communities in the overall campaign. This is the 13th year Legion members have conducted the affair bringing total contributions over the years to $12,577 ranging from a low of $714 the first year to $1,251 in 1967, the record year.

Businessmen and industry from throughout the area contributed coffee and other refreshments for volunteers throughout the day. Collections started at 4:30 a.m. and continued until 8 p.m.

4-Way Primary Set for Neenah

MENASHA — A four-way runoff between mayoral candidates March 5 appeared assured today as First Ward Ald. Andrew (Bud) DeLeeuw prepared to file his completed nomination papers.

The second-term alderman will face Mayor Kenneth Holmes, former Mayor John Klein and Fourth Ward Ald. Richard Heindl in the primary elimination contest. The two contenders with the highest vote tally will square off in the April 2 general election.

With a 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline for filing as candidates, the last of the announced contenders for aldermanic seats also filed papers this morning.

KHS Students Ask Exchange Plan

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna High School student council's domestic exchange committee has prepared a proposal for a student exchange program to be studied by the board of education.

Ten to 20 junior and senior students from Kaukauna would spend a one or two week period of study at some other school in the United States or Canada and a similar number of students from that school would participate in classes at Kaukauna.

Criteria would be set up to insure the type of students acceptable and a screening committee would review applicants desiring to participate. Board of education approval is needed and if possible, the students would like to initiate the program sometime this semester or early next year.

Pickard, Aylward Honored At Ripon College Ceremonies

RIPON — Three Fox Valley men were honored at a program Sunday at Ripon College.

S. N. Pickard, Neenah, received the annual Founders' Day citation for his "outstanding service to education" at Ripon College.

Ripon President Bernard S. Adams presented the award to Pickard in ceremonies that combined the Founders' Day celebration and the dedication of a new $2 million physical education center at the college.

As Chairman of the Physical Education Center Building Committee for the Board of Trustees, Pickard turned over the first shovel of earth for the new structure in the fall of 1966. President Adams commended Pickard not only for his work in helping the physical education center dream come true, but also his many years of service as a trustee.

Aylward Hall, a large indoor "instructional area" where outdoor sports may be practiced, will honor E. J. Aylward, Oshkosh, Neenah Foundry board chairman. He was Neenah area chairman for the Forward Thrust Campaign, a capital gifts drive to raise initial funds for the project. He has also been a trustee of Ripon College for 20 years. Aylward's son, William, accepted a citation on behalf of his father who was ill.

Early W. Wyman, board chairman of Oshkosh B'Gosh, Inc., also received a citation for his contributions toward the new center. Wyman was graduated from Ripon College in 1917 and has been a trustee since 1935. Also commended was John M. Kohler, vice-president and director of the Kohler Company, Kohler.

The 80,000 square foot physical education center houses a swimming pool, two basketball courts, a practice field, apparatus room, class and conference rooms, dance studio, faculty offices and locker rooms.

2 Businesses Each Lose $600

Thefts Occur at Two Neenah Sites During Weekend

NEENAH — Thefts of $600 were reported at two Neenah businesses over the weekend.

Approximately $600 was taken from a safe at a Red Owl store, 1126 S. Commercial St., after it was broken into sometime between 9 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Monday, according to police.

Entrance was gained through the roof of the store after the person or persons apparently reached the roof by a temporary scaffolding beside the building, police said.

Temporary construction at the store hides the view of the inside from the street, police said.

The safe was drilled into and about $600 taken, police said.

Gauthier's Island Inn, 401 N. Commercial St., was also broken into Friday night and between $600 and $700 was taken from a cash box, according to police.

Entrance was apparently gained through a transom over a door, since there was no evidence of forcible entrance through a window or door, police said.

The cash box was hidden in a freezer near the south end of the bar.

AAL Passes $4 Billion In Insurance

December Record of $59 Million Pushes Association to New High

Aid Association for Lutherans Friday reached an important milestone when life insurance in force passed the $4 billion mark.

The milestone was reached following a record December when new life insurance paid-for exceeded $59 million, bringing 1967 new insurance paid-for to a record $478 million.

AAL, founded in Appleton in 1902, is the largest fraternal life insurance society in America and serves more than 850,000 Lutherans in all 50 states and five provinces of Canada who own over a million contracts of life insurance or life annuities.

In a statement made to home office employes Friday afternoon, AAL President Walter L. Rugland said, "We have cause to celebrate today, but we should keep in mind that there is no particular merit in bigness, per se, but rather in what is behind it.

Backed By Confidence

"What's behind it is the confidence of Lutherans all over the United States and much of Canada in Aid Association for Lutherans and what it stands for. They know AAL has more to offer than financial security. That certainly is important but . . . Aid Association for Lutherans offers something in addition — a bond of fraternal concern for our fellow Lutherans."

"That idea," Rugland said, "has been ingrained at AAL since its founding in 1902. It is still uppermost in our minds. It will continue to be the cornerstone of our Association as we move on to billion No. 5."

AAL reached its first $1 billion of life insurance in force in May, 1956. The $2 billion mark was reached in November, 1961, and the $3 billion mark in March, 1965.

The Association has more than 4,100 local branches with about 850,000 members, served by more than 710 full-time district representatives in 83 general agencies.

More than 550 are employed in the AAL home office.

Edward A. Merten, 5 Briarcliff Court, left, vice president and superintendent of agents, and George V. Krampien, 1737 Reid Drive, senior vice president and director of agencies, place a new block in position for an Aid Association for Lutherans window display signifying that AAL has reached $4 billion of life insurance in force. The mark was reached late Friday while the Board of Directors was holding its annual meeting in the home office.

regulate activities of local unions to establish uniformity among employee contracts.

In his position with Local 563, Schlieve has served on the Teamsters Central States Policy Committee, dairy division. He also serves on the Central States Grievance Committee in connection with overseeing terms of the nationwide master freight contract.

Schlieve played roles in obtaining landmark agreements, including the first statewide cartage agreement in 1952; Central States agreement in 1955; and the national freight contract in 1961.

Commenting today on the 1968 labor-management outlook and the role to be played by the Wisconsin Joint Council of Teamsters and locals within its jurisdiction, Schlieve predicted, "It will be a busy and interesting year."

Negotiations Underway

Contracts of several major firms in the trucking, warehousing and manufactured milk divisions expire, and in some instances, negotiations now are underway, according to Schlieve.

Schlieve heads the Joint Council's negotiating committee in talks now in progress with Foremost Dairies, Inc. and Consolidated Badger, leading firms in the region.

On Feb. 7, Schlieve announced, the state Teamsters council will meet at Milwaukee to lay the groundwork for negotiating new contracts with the ready-mix concrete industry in Wisconsin. The present agreements expire May 1.

Periodically, Schlieve is called upon to assist with negotiations and settling grievances in the Central and Southern States Conferences of the Teamsters.

AFS Students Meet For Brillion Reunion

BRILLION — The American Field Service (AFS) motto "Walk Together, Talk Together, Ye Peoples of the World; Then and Only Then Shall You Have Peace" was broadened somewhat Friday, Saturday and Sunday when 12 area AFS students and their American "brothers and sisters" gathered here.

For some it was a chance to renew friendships made at similar events conducted previously in the Fox River Valley area.

The students from Neenah, New London, Hortonville, Appleton, Plymouth, Reedsville, Kaukauna, and New Holstein arrived Friday for a week-end of fun sponsored by the Brillion High School AFS Club.

They included Gabriela Cornejo, Ecuador; Juan Toselli, Argentina; Jocken Seidel, Germany; Sonia Robb, New Zealand; Kevin Chomse, South Africa; Yoski Wada, Japan; Sergio Castellani, Italy; Bernadet Amersekere, Ceylon; Ong Hong Nen, Vietnam; Caludio Frischtak, Brazil; Nazy Malekyazdi, Iran; Ann Norris, Australia, and Francisco Coronel from Ecuador, who is not an AFS student but lives in Appleton and attends East High School there.

After attending the Brillion-Reedsville basketball game Friday, visitors attended an informal get-acquainted party at the high school.

Saturday morning the group congregated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Behnke for a talent show rehearsal and in the afternoon played volleyball, ping pong, badminton and danced at the high school. Plans for an afternoon of snowmobiling, skating and tobogganing had to be canceled due to bad weather.

About 175 persons attended the 6 p.m. dinner Saturday during which the AFS students performed in a talent show. A dance at the high school followed this event.

Guests attended church with their host families Sunday and departed for their homes in the afternoon.

Deadline Nears As Candidates File Papers

April Run-Off for Board of Education Aspirants Likely

Within the next 24 hours Appleton residents will know whether there need be a primary election to fill two board of education positions in April.

Two candidates filed nomination papers today, raising the number of officeseekers to three — two short of the primary requirement.

There is one more aspirant circulating papers and he undoubtedly will file before Tuesday's 5 p.m. deadline.

If there are only four candidates, the run-off for the two positions will be at the general election April 2.

Filing this morning were Charles Buchanan, 229 Union St., and John R. Stevens, 3117 N. Morrison St., Grand Chute.

President Files

Buchanan is president of the board of education and will be seeking his third three-year term. Stevens made a respectable showing but unsuccessful bid in his attempt to win a board seat in the last election.

Mrs. Patricia Danford, 430 E. Pershing St., is the other candidate who filed previously. Cornelius D. VanHandel Jr. is still circulating papers after announcing he would run.

A primary aldermanic race was assurred in the 14th Ward where three are seeking the spot being vacated by Ald. Roy Pointer, who is running for mayor. Latest to file were Thomas A. Mulvihill, 1331 E. Byrd St. and Dorothy H. Draheim, 1701 N. McDonald St.

Taking out papers for 14th Ward alderman was Donald L. Roth, 1604 N. Erb St., assistant claims manager at the Aid Association for Lutherans.

Wallace Takes Step For Presidential Campaign in State

Legal Adviser Checks Wisconsin Election Laws; Predicts Drive

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The first gentle tremors of the expected presidential campaign of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace struck Wisconsin Monday as an attorney representing him spent most of the morning checking state election laws.

Jesse Williams, a Montgomery, Ala., attorney hired by the Wallace campaign organization of the new American Independent Party, quizzed election officials in the office of Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman in advance of what Williams expects to be a national presidential drive by Wallace.

Williams told reporters that he is one of 25 Alabama attornies hired by the campaign committee to cover the country, checking election laws in every state.

Also in Michigan

Williams visited Lansing, Mich., last week and studied laws in the home state of Republican hopeful Gov. George Romney.

He said he hopes to hire a Madison lawyer to represent Wallace in the legal workings for the probable campaign. He will not meet with either of the two Wallace for President committees already organized in Wisconsin, he said.

Wallace met with his special attornies a week ago, Williams reported, and gave every indication of being a man set to make the race for the White House.

Displayed Confidence

"The way he talked last week he was confident in what he was doing, confident that he would meet with public support," Williams said.

The attorney added he personally feels Wallace's 1964 campaign was a trial run and designed to throw the Johnson-Goldwater contest into the House of Representatives. The former governor is a serious candidate this year, Williams said.

In 1964 Wallace drew a surprising 266,000 votes in Wisconsin's spring primary, about one quarter of all votes cast.

California Ballot

At the special conference Wallace showed motion pictures of his successful campaign to win a spot on this year's California ballot, Williams said.

"To me that was very important. I feel if he had not made it out there his campaign would have been sort of a flop."

Williams also said his reading of the Wisconsin election law also indicates that Wallace will not enter the state's primary in 1968 because independents are seemingly barred.

November Ballot

But Wallace is expected to be on the November election ballot in Wisconsin and he will enter every primary in state's requiring such races to gain a spot on the November ballots, Williams said.

The recurrence of Gov. Lurleen Wallace's cancer probably will not stop her husband's presidential campaign, Williams said. Despite her illness she is urging Wallace to make the race.

"Sometimes the time is ripe to make your move and sometimes it isn't." Williams said in a soft southern accent. "I think he feels that if he pulls out now by the next time he may have missed the boat."

PASADENA Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper is a world renowned golfer. He is also something of a prophet.

Last week the two-time U.S. open champion was asked what score he thought would win the $100,000 Los Angeles open tournament.

"I'll take 274," said Casper It turned out to be the exact figure—and Casper had it Sunday.

Casper and the golfing nomads head for the next stop on the tour, the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic this weekend, of which $100,000 is official PGA money.

This was Casper's 13th appearance in the 42nd annual

For Appleton East, it will be the climax of a gruelling 5-day grind. . . .For Appleton West, it will be the start of a rugged week.

The two Appleton public high schools, Tuesday night, will engage in the second of their three 1967-8 installments of basketball thrills The Fox River Valley Conference clash, in the new Patriot gym, will start at 8:15 p.m.

The schedule-maker has called upon the East Patriots to face the toughest collection of foes within a short span of any FRVC team this season. Last Friday, they played host to unbeaten Manitowoc (the state's second-ranked team) — and just fell short of their upset aim, 70-67. One night later, the Patriots invaded the floor of the (red-hot) Green Bay West and ran out of gas, 74-60, as the surging Wildcats chalked up their sixth straight win.

Next, the Patriots face Appleton's Terrors, the season's most remarkable FRVC team, who are running second only to Manitowoc.

2 Key 'Away' Games

For AHS-W, this is the start of two key "away" games in a 4-day stretch. After meeting dangerous AHS-E, the Terrors play at Sheboygan Friday, against third-place North. AHS-W cannot afford a slip in either game if it hopes to catch front-running Manty.

The first East-West game, in December, turned out to be the exciting scrap most fans had expected. The Terrors outscored the Patriots, 17 to 12, in the final quarter to notch a 45-41 victory. The Appleton quintets

Lawrence Eyes Revenge

Vikes, Ripon to Duel Here

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Surging Lawrence University, which climbed into fourth place in the Midwest Conference basketball chase with a pair of home wins over the weekend, hopes to retain domination over opposition at Alexander Gym when the Vikes battle state rival Ripon Tuesday night.

Game time for the struggle is set for 7:30 p.m. The schools' two freshman teams are slated to meet in a preliminary game at 5:30 p.m.

The Vikes, now 4-3 in the league, have won six of seven starts this season before home crowds. In their only home loss, Lawrence dropped an 80-78 overtime decision to league-leading St. Olaf.

Coach Clyde Rusk's crew will be coming off 75-67 and 65-60 victories over Monmouth and Knox, respectively, while the invading Redmen are licking wounds sustained in Friday and Saturday defeats to the same two Illinois teams. Ripon was edged, 75-72, by Knox and 74-62 by the Scots.

The twin losses virtually eliminated Ripon from further title consideration. The Redmen now own a 2-5 mark in the MC. Ripon, after a third place finish last season and with four of five starters returning, had been picked by league observers to capture the MC crown.

The chances to continue their movement upwards in the standings plus a desire to avenge an 84-71 defeat at Ripon will motivate the Vikes in the return match. In the first game, a balanced attack led by Mike Boyd's 20 points led the Redmen. Bob Townsend's 22 markers topped Lawrence.

CHICAGO (AP) — Having taken outright possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball title race by beating Purdue, Northwestern will try to keep it with a repeat performance this week.

The Wildcats, downing the Boilermakers 82-74 in Evanston, Ill., Saturday, pay a visit to Purdue's home court Saturday afternoon.

The game heads a full round of Big Ten firing Saturday. Iowa (3-1) is at Illinois (2-1) for a television affair; Wisconsin at Ohio State (3-1), Michigan (0-4) at Michigan State (2-3), and Indiana (2-2) at Minnesota.

Wisconsin (2-1) is at Minnesota (0-4) Tuesday.

Northern Michigan is at Purdue, Indiana at DePaul and Cornell at Ohio State. Notre Dame invades Michigan State Tuesday.

Move to Top

Northwestern broke from a first-place tie with the Iowa Hawkeyes, who were idle, to move to the top with a 4-1 record while Purdue slumped to 2-2. The Cats led 44-35 at the half and outrebounded the Boilermakers 54-41.

Purdue's Rick Mount took scoring honors with 27 points but collected only nine in the last half. Terry Gamber, who guarded Mount most of the game, topped Northwestern with 20.

In the only other Big Ten contest Saturday, Ohio State rallied in the final five minutes to edge winless Michigan 95-92, posting a 3-1 record to share second place with Iowa. Bill Hoskett headed the Buckeyes with 26 points, 18 in the first half, while Dennis Stewart guided Michigan with 32.

In a pair of nonconference games at Chicago Stadium, Illinois upset Notre Dame 68-67 and Michigan State trimmed Southern Illinois 68-56.

Dave Scholz netted 10 of his 17 points in the final three minutes of play to give the Illini victory after the Irish had rallied from an eight-point lag. Randy Crews' 19 points topped Illinois.

Lee Lafayette pumped 23 points in the Spartans' decision over the Sulukis, who were led by Dick Garrett with 29.

Lacey Quits UCLA Quint, Raps Wooden

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Edgar Lacey, a 6-foot-6 forward starter on the UCLA basketball team, quit the Bruins late Sunday and, in doing so, leveled harsh criticism at UCLA Coach John Wooden.

The senior forward said he "never enjoyed playing for that man," and added he was getting off the team "while I still have some of my pride, my sanity and my self-esteem left."

The rift between Lacey and Wooden became public last week when Lacey didn't show up for practice. He indicated his anger over remarks by Wooden that Lacey wasn't effective in UCLA's loss to Houston, 71-69 the week before.

Willie Davis 1 of Investors In a New Sports Facility

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A group of professional athletes, headed by Detroit Lion linebacker Ernie Clark and including other football stars like Willie Davis and Leroy Kelly, plan to construct a $1 million sports facility northwest of Indianapolis by 1969.

Clark said the facility will be called Sportsman's Club Inc. and will have membership similar to a country club, although the cost will be less.

Leaders of the organization are Negro, Clark said, but they would like the membership to be racially balanced. The group hopes to draw 1,000 to 1,500 members, he said.

Among other football players committed to the project besides Davis of Green Bay and Kelly of Cleveland are Dick Gordon, Chicago; John Wooten and Carl Ward, Cleveland; Tom Watkins, Lem Barney and Jerry Rush, Detroit; former Baltimore star Jim Parker; Otis Taylor, Kansas City; Charley Taylor, Washington, and Marv Woodson, Pittsburgh.

The group, in its first venture, plans to purchase 47 acres of land with the possible acquisition of 40 more acres.

If the project is successful, Clark said, the group plans to build similar clubs in other cities.

Press Conference Thursday

Lombardi May Reveal Plans

GREEN BAY (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers has scheduled a news conference for Thursday night, apparently to announce whether he will remain at the helm of the professional football champions.

Lombardi, the most consistently successful coach in National Football League history, has been silent about his plans since guiding the Packers to victory in the Super Bowl Jan. 14.

But rumors have persisted that he will not return as Packer coach for another season.

One report has him remaining on at Green Bay as general manager, but surrendering coaching chores to Phil Bengtson, the defensive coach.

Another Team

Another report has Lombardi moving on to another team.

Lombardi, who coached the Packers to five NFL titles in the past seven years and two Super Bowl victories in the past two years, achieved in 1967 what no NFL coach ever achieved before.

The Packers won the NFL title for a third straight time, a feat unprecedented since the league went to a playoff system in 1933.

A Green Bay spokesman said Lombardi will speak briefly at a "press dinner" Thursday night at a Green Bay Country Club. "Take it from there," the spokesman said.

A post-season Packer press dinner is something unprecedented for Green Bay under Lombardi. The Packers do schedule a press dinner each year before the start of the season.

State Democrats Will Declare LBJ Support

List of 37 Backers in Assembly Compiled to Slow McCarthy Drive

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A listing of 37 of Wisconsin's 45 Democratic assemblymen backing the re-election of President Lyndon B Johnson will be made public here soon as another step in the fight to block the April primary hopes of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy, it has been learned by the Post-Crescent Madison Bureau.

The list, compiled by Assembly Minority Leader Robert Huber, D-West Allis, will bear the names of the vast majority of Democratic lawmakers, and will be designed as another blow at anti-war candidate McCarthy, who hopes to slow Johnson's renomination, starting with impressive showings in the coming New Hampshire and Wisconsin presidential preference primaries.

Huber revealed that he has won the consent of 37 of the 45 minority party members of the lower house — and that only one assemblyman had said "no" to the request to back the Democratic President.

4 Silent

Huber, asked about the poll taken privately within the last month at the urging of state Democratic Party leaders, said that four assemblymen had asked not to be included because of their involvement in non-partisan races this spring, and three others have remained undecided.

Huber said that he has not become involved in a similar poll in the state Senate, where there are 12 Democrats, but it is thought that a list has been compiled and will be made public as part of the same announcement

Results in the Senate might not be quite as impressive, however At least a part of the Democratic delegation from racially-troubled Milwaukee could be expected to personally and politically prefer former Alabama Gov George Wallace, as some assemblymen from that area probably do.

Series of Polls

The move by Huber is another in a series of polls taken of party leaders — undoubtedly at the urging of the White House, although Huber said not — in efforts to discredit McCarthy as a party-line candidate

Earlier this month Democratic Party Chairman Richard Cudahy released a list of a majority of county party chairmen backing the President, and Saturday encountered extreme resentment from McCarthy backers on the state party's administrative committee for his actions

Donald O. Peterson, chairman of the state McCarthy for President Committee, attempted to block Cudahy from taking any such future actions as party chairman, but was defeated.

At the same meeting, the state's Young Democratic leaders released the names of 12 of 27 members of the organization's governing unit as backing the President's renomination and election.

Deepening Split

The in-fighting swirling around the contending contingents is expected to deepen as the April primary nears, and cause political difficulties within the state party at all levels in the fall elections

The success Huber had in recruiting party office holders to back the President in the midst of the party in-fighting is thought to be a reflection both of deep personal respect and trust for Huber within the party and of the power of the presidency — which extends down to the most local level with federal grants, postmasterships, and an occasional judgeship.

Huber reported that the entire Assembly Democratic leadership, including himself and Assistant Minority Leader David Obey of Wausau, and caucus chairman George Molinaro of Kenosha, would top the listing.

The list, he said, has been forwarded to state headquarters and will be made public soon — possibly this week.

Firm Decisions

He explained that the total could climb as the undecided lawmakers are convinced to join the list, but that it would not drop below the 37 names now firmly written on the list.

He would not identify the undecided lawmakers or the single assemblyman refusing to back the President, but said that those who asked not to be included because of non-partisan races are Joseph Sweda, of Lublin, and Robert Kordus, Daniel Hanna and James McCann, all of Milwaukee Sweda is running for re-election as vice chairman of the Taylor County Board

Huber revealed that the poll was taken in response to questions from a reporter following the Democratic legislative campaign dinner which raised more than $20,000 for fall campaign chests

At the administrative committee session earlier in the day, the Democrats adopted a tentative $272,000 party budget for the coming campaign year They also voted to hold their June, 1969, party convention in Stevens Point, rather than in Green Bay, from which an invitation also had been received.

Food Stamps, Credit Sustaining 60,000 Striking Copper Miners

NEW YORK (AP) — Western miners and their families are eking out a harsh existence on union benefits, food stamps and credit as efforts to settle the six-month-old copper industry strike are being intensified.

The strike, called last July 15 by the United Steelworkers of America and 25 other unions, has idled nearly 60,000 workers and cut off more than 90 per cent of the nation's copper production and 35 per cent of the lead and zinc output.

The impact has been heavy, too, on businesses and governments of the big copper producing states—Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Montana and Nevada.

"Food stamps have saved the day," said Mayor Tom Powers of Butte, Mont "If it wasn't for the stamps, I'd have been dead along with a lot of other small grocers."

Only Industry

The impact has been hardest in small towns of the West, where copper is their only industry. But it has been felt in some Eastern areas, where copper fabricating is concentrated.

"You know a man is hurting when he comes in and spends his collection of silver dollars on food," said a supermarket manager in Perth Amboy, N.J., where 3,700 refinery workers are on strike.

In nearby Carteret, N.J., small grocery stores reported a 50 per cent drop in sales.

But despite the hardships, many strikers say, "We're doing all right."

Most of the strikers have used up their savings by now. They are getting up to $30 a week in union benefits and are receiving foods stamps from the government.

Rent Deferred

Phelps Dodge Corp., Arizona's biggest copper producer, has deferred collection of rents on company-owned houses and company stores have extended up to $35 a week in credit.

The strike has shut down mines producing copper, silver, molybdenum, zinc and lead and smelters, refineries and fabricating plants in 23 states.

The economies of the five Western mining states have been damaged and tax collections have fallen.

The Arizona Tax Commission estimates the state is losing $500,000 a month in taxes on the sale of copper and another $500,000 in general sales taxes. It predicts the state income tax loss for 1967 will be $5.5 million.

The issues in the strike are wages and fringe benefits and union demands for company-wide bargaining.

In its latest offer, Phelps Dodge proposed to increase the current pay scale to a range of $2.89 to $4.09 an hour over three years, a boost of 27 cents for the lowest job classification and 35 cents for the highest. The offer is being considered during recessed negotiations.

An offer by Anaconda Co., whose biggest operations are in Montana, of wage raises ranging from 31⅜ cents to 44½ cents an hour was rejected.

The unions say their over-all demand amounts to 99 cents an hour but the companies insist it is much higher.

The companies' official stand is this:

"Major differences separating the copper producers and the unions have centered on inflationary wage and fringe benefit demands and the union insistence on companywide bargaining with common industry contract expiration dates and uniform wage rates."

A Steelworkers Union spokesman said the unions' stand on companywide bargaining remains unchanged "because they (unions) believe in equal pay for equal work."

Despite the shutdown of almost all production, there has been no severe shortage of copper for industrial and military use. In advance of the strike, mills and foundries accumulated copper inventories totaling a record 641,083 tons.

No Bombs Intact, Searchers Decide

Fragments of All 4 Hydrogen Weapons Found in Greenland

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says that while there's no hope any of four lost hydrogen bombs will be found intact the search will be pressed for months if necessary in frigid Greenland.

Serial numbers on weapons fragments found at the crash site correspond with Strategic Air Command listings of serial numbers on various components on all four bombs, the Pentagon said Sunday.

"We know damned well that those bombs were torn apart when the plane came down and burned," an Air Force colonel said at the crash site on the ice of North Star Bay, 7½ miles from Thule Air Base on Greenland's northwest coast.

Sealed in Bombs

Searchers have found the four parachutes that were a vital part of the bombs' delivery systems. A Pentagon nuclear expert, serving as part of the search team, acknowledged the chutes are sealed within the casings of the bombs

"You can draw your own conclusions from the fact the chutes were found separate from anything else," one source said

Their purpose is to slow the descent of the weapons in an attack so the plane that drops them will have time to get out of the area before they explode.

Maj Gen. Richard O. Hunziker, director of the 24-hour-a-day recovery effort, said the four chutes were found in a compact area near the dark burn marks on the ice where the B52 bomber crashed a week ago.

Ice Breakup

Officers at the scene indicated the search for more fragments may go on until the summer breakup of the bay ice—about June

Defense officials at the crash scene and in Washington kept a tight security lid on the nature of many of the fragments being found so as not to reveal construction details of the bombs all believed to be in the 1.1 megaton range.

Several search officers said in private that one of their primary missions is to assure Denmark, which governs Greenland, that everthing possible is being done to find the bombs and to eliminate any possibility of dangerous radiation.

Defense officials have stated it is impossible for the devices to detonate. They say radiation found at the site so far has been light, closely contained and is considered negligible.

Hampered by Weather

The mechanics of the search are dictated by the severe nature of the Arctic weather and icy terrain.

Some 1,500 pounds of horsemeat have been shipped in to feed the Eskimo sled dogs that carry the searchers from the air base to the crash scene. Electrical generators are being hauled to the site to provide light in the nearly constant polar darkness.

What nearly everyone associated with the bomb search expressed fear about was the onslaught of what Thule veterans call a Phase-3—a severe polar storm in which blowing snow reduces visibility to zero.

All outdoor activities stop except for emergency rescue missions. Prolonged exposure during a Phase-3, at temperatures 30 or more degrees below zero, means death.

The barracks rooms at Thule have stocks of C-rations for those confined indoors during the Arctic storms, which sometimes last several days.

Jewel Thief Caught Again

Murph the Surf in Gunfight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jack "Murph the Surf" Murphy, the beachboy jewel thief and former stuntman, dove through the glass door of a mansion Sunday into a gunfight with police.

The blond surfing champion, diver, ladies man and amateur violinist whose suave good looks were his trademark was no longer handsome when he arrived at police headquarters for a lineup in bare feet, bloody bandages, handcuffs and a backless yellow hospital gown.

Murphy and three other men were charged with the pistol-point robbery of a wealthy widow, her young housemaid and 8-year-old niece in a Millionaire' Row Mansion

Star of India

Murphy, 32, who stole the Star of India and the DeLong ruby; Paul Gagnon, 26, Bobby Greenwood, 32, and Salvatore Grech, 26, were charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to kill. Bond was set on each at $75,000, then boosted to $100,000 and then canceled.

All were arrested after a wild gunfight with more than a dozen officers on quiet Pine Tree Drive, just across Indian Creek Canal from the Fontainebleau Hotel, about noon Sunday.

Police Chief Rocky Pomerance said the four came to the home of hotel owner Olive Wofford in a rented panel truck. One, without a mask, said he had a package for Mrs Wofford and the other three crashed in, masked with pieces of knitted sweater tied over their faces.

Tied With Wire

The young woman, Judy Pheil, and Mrs. Wofford's niece, Jill Henderson, were bound with wire. The four charged to the second floor bedroom where Mrs. Wofford was resting, Pomerance said.

"Money and jewelry, where are they?" one barked.

At the point of .45 automatics and under threats to "scald the kid with boiling water," Mrs Wofford said, she opened her safe and allowed the bandits to rummage through her 19-room home.

But a silent alarm alerted police who rushed to the Wofford mansion

Pomerance said Murphy fired two shots at the lock of a French door but missed. Then the former stuntman—who once scaled to the fourth floor of the Museum of Natural History in New York to sack the jewel room—crashed through the glass, cutting his cheek and chin.

Quickly Captured

Murphy, Gagnon and Greenwood were rounded up quickly. Grech was tracked by a police dog to the gatehouse of another mansion

A chrome-plated .45 which Pomerance said belonged to Murphy was found on the roof of the house next door. Other weapons, ropes, gloves and masks were fished from the canal by divers.

Murphy was bandaged at a hospital and taken to police headquarters. As he entered in the hospital gown he socked a television newsman.

Then dressed in jail clothes, Murphy stood in a lineup with five other men whom police had bandaged to match. Murphy's lawyer, Jack Nageley, said the witnesses made no identification.

For his part in engineering the theft of the 563-carat, Star of India Oct 29, 1964 with Allan Kuhn and Roger Clark, Murphy served about two years of a three-year sentence on New York's Rikers Island

The Star of India sapphire, the 100-carat DeLong ruby, and the 116-carat Midnight Star sapphire—main pieces of the museum loot—were recovered.

Kentucky Goes After Record Win No. 772 For Rupp Tonight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Adolph Rupp, the lengendary "Man in The Brown Suit," goes after a record-breaking victory tonight, voicing unconcern over the record but the same old fierce desire to win.

"To win, that's the name of the game," the 67-year-old Rupp said after his ninth-ranked Kentucky Wildcats had topped Louisiana State 121-95 at Baton Rouge Saturday.

The victory was the 771st for Rupp — all in a 38-year career at Kentucky — and tied him for No. 1 on the all-time list with Phog Allen, his former coach at Kansas. Allen retired 12 years ago.

"Bless his bones," Allen said in Lawrence, Kan. "I'm glad he's tied it."

Rupp, who seeks the record-breaker tonight against Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., was much less enthusiastic.

"The record? I really hadn't thought much about it," he said. "The boys get the wins, not me."

Balance Brings Win

The boys gave up 52 points to LSU's Pete Maravich, the nation's leading scorer, but won easily with a balanced attack. Mike Casey had 31 points for the Wildcats and Thad Jaracz 24.

The victory left Kentucky with a 5-3 Southeastern Conference record and a tie for fourth place. The Wildcats, coming off a 13-13 season a year ago — the worst under Rupp — are gunning for a 21st Conference title under the Baron. They've shared two others.

Houston and UCLA, one-two in the national rankings, won handily over the weekend, top-ranked Houston crushing Lamar Tech 112-79 with Elvin Hayes scoring 38 points and grabbing 17 rebounds. It was Houston's 18th straight victory.

UCLA completed its two-game stand in Madison Square Garden with an 84-77 triumph over Boston College. Lew Alcindor led the Bruins with 28 points—22 in the first half — and 17 rebounds. UCLA whipped Holy Cross 90-67 in the Garden Friday.

Back to League Foes

UCLA now goes back to California for games with conference opponents the rest of the way, while top-ranked Houston takes on Fairfield in Houston tonight before moving to New York for a date with Marshall Thursday.

Third ranked North Carolina scored its 10th straight triumph, 82-54 over Georgia Tech at Charlotte, No. 6 Tennessee held off Ole Miss 66-65 at Oxford and seventh ranked Vanderbilt whipped Mississippi State 90-69 at Starkville.

New Mexico and St. Bonaventure, Nos. 4 and 5, respectively, did not play. Both are unbeaten.

Utah, No. 10, was the only member of the ranked group to lose Saturday. The Redskins, now 13-5, suffered their fourth straight loss, 79-77 to Seattle.

Villanova stopped St. John's, N.Y. 62-57 for the Wildcats' ninth straight victory, while Army stretched its string to seven straight with a 73-55 triumph over Penn State.

Awards From the Columbus Touchdown Club went to these professional football players Friday night for their fast footwork. Jim Bakken, left, led the National Football League in scoring and kicked seven field goals in one game for the St. Louis Cardinals. Travis Williams, right, brilliant Green Bay rookie, set a record for kick-off returns. (AP Wirephoto)

The Celtics, dethroned a year ago by the 76ers, posted their fourth victory in five meetings with their arch rivals this season by defeating Philadelphia 115-103 Sunday.

In other NBA games, New York nipped San Francisco 133-130, Los Angeles walloped St. Louis 128-113 in Miami Beach and Seattle thumped Baltimore 135-126 in Tacoma, Wash.

In ABA action, Dallas upended Anaheim 118-115, Pittsburgh edged New Jersey 123-122 and Oakland turned back Kentucky 108-98.

"I think we can win it this season," veteran Bailey Howell said after a 29-point performance. "Philadelphia looks as good this year, but things aren't going the same for them. Everything fell into place for them last year."

Blow Lead

The Celtics led by as much as eight points in the first half and were in front 65-61 at the intermission, but fell behind 84-78 in the first 10½ minutes of the third period.

Suddenly Boston broke loose, outscoring the 76ers 15-1 in a surge which carried to a 93-85 lead early in the finale. Howell helped as he scored 12 points in the fourth perod.

Sam Jones matched Howell's output with 29 points, including 22 in the first half.

Wilt Chamberlain topped Philadelphia with 19 points.

In New York, Walt Frazier tossed in two free throws with 37 seconds remaining to play, breaking a 127-127 tie and sending the Knicks in front to stay.

Cazzie Russell, who scored all of his 26 points in the second half, then added the clinching basket. Frazier finished with 23 points, 10 assists and 15 rebounds while Rudy LaRusso topped the Warriors with 31 points.

Baylor, West Keys

The Lakers, behind Elgin Baylor's 29 points and 15 rebounds and Jerry West's 22 points, streaked for 10 straight points early in the third period to break open a close contest. West, returning after missing two games with a broken nose, chipped in with 22 points. Lou Hudson led the Hawks with 23.

Seattle snapped a three-game losing streak while halting Baltimore's winning skein at four. Bob Weiss collected 10 points in the final period in triggering the Supersonics. Earl Monroe of the bullets topped the scorers with 36 points while Al Tucker was high for the Sonics with 25.

Pair of Clutch Hitters

Cuyler, Goslin in Fame Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame has been further enriched by the enrollment of two clutch-hitting outfielders who bowed out of the game 30 long years ago—Leon "Goose" Goslin and the late Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler.

Goslin, who played 18 American League seasons, most of them with Washington, and Cuyler, an 18-year standout for Chicago and three other National League clubs, were elected to the Hall Sunday by a unanimous vote of the Veterans Committee headed by former commissioner Ford C. Frick.

The committee considers former stars whose playing careers ended more than 20 years ago.

The two oldtimers, whose election swells the roster of the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine to 110, join outfielder Joe "Ducky" Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals' legendary Gashouse Gang as 1968 inductees. Medwick was elected to the hall last Tuesday in the Baseball Writers Association of America balloting.

Goslin Cuyler

"It's a marvelous thing. I appreciate it very much," said the 67-year-old Goslin, a Bridgeton, N.J., resident, when told of his election.

Cuyler, who died 18 years ago at the age of 50, batted .321 over a career that also started in 1921 and wound up in 1938. The Harrisville, Mich., product once collected 10 straight hits and had six in row three times.

Patriots Play Host Tuesday To Terror '5' are due to meet again next month in a tournament opener.

Last Friday, the Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors came up with one of their top performances of an amazing FRVC season (AHS-W had been picked to finish 10th in the conference). The Terrors demolished Green Bay Southwest, 71-46, on the Trojans' court.

The strong Terror defense limited Southwest to four points in the second quarter, holding the Trojans without a field goal.

Tom Hintz, AHS-W standout, scored a career high of 32 points to pace the victory.

AHS-W has won eight of its last nine conference starts — the only loss in that span coming at Green Bay West, when Hintz was hampered with an ankle injury.

AHS-W has an 8-2 league recored and is 8-4, over-all. The Patriots own an 8-5 all-games record and are 6-5 in the circuit.

In the first intra-Appleton game, Hintz and Carl Hunt led West, with 15 and 14 points, respectively. Blaine Heichelt led East, with 12, and Tom Jones and Gary Bleier added 10 each.

The Bill Morse-coached Patriots, who have dropped three narrow decisions among their five losses, produced an inspired effort against Manitowoc, almost pulling the game out with a flaming rally. Jones and Rick Stach scored 18 points apiece against the league leaders.

Stach and Jones will start Tuesday for East, along with Reichelt, Bleier and Bob Mayer.

For the Terrors, Hintz and Hunt will be joined by Mark Catlin, Ade Dillon and Mark Schroeder in the starting array.

Speedway Cancels Midget Auto Racing

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Midget auto racing, a weekly feature at the Hales Corners Speedway for the past two seasons, is being discontinued, Warren Hintz, president of Racine Enterprises Inc. said Saturday.

"The drivers and car owners wanted more money," Hintz said. "They gave us a pretty bad time so we just decided we wouldn't run this year."

Thailand's Chionoi Captures Flyweight Title in Bloody Bout

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Thailand's smiling Chartchai Chionoi had a firm grip today on the flyweight championship for half the world after a bloody, 13-round technical knockout over Mexico's Efren "Scorpion" Torres.

Both fighters were covered with blood when Referee Arthur Mercante, brought in from New York stopped the bout at 1:15 of the 13th round Sunday night because of cuts on the closed left eye of Torres. Chionoi's left eye also was closed and bleeding.

"Chionoi is a great champion," the Mexican said.

Chionoi weighed 109¾ pounds; Torres 111¾.

"I dedicated the fight to the King and Queen of Thailand," said Choinoi. "Torres is the best and the hardest fighter I ever fought. I will probably fight him again in six months."

Most Recognize Title

Chionoi's title is recognized by Ring Magazine, most of Europe, Asia, Latin America and the New York Athletic Commission. The World Boxing Association and the World Boxing Council recognize Horacio Acavallo of Argentina.

Chionoi, 25, knocked down the 24-year-old Torres for a short count in the second round and later caught the Mexican repeatedly with wide rights to his bleeding eye.

The referee warned the Thai in the sixth against butting Torres' bleeding eye. Chionoi, apparently not understanding, smiled and bowed, as he did throughout the fight.

Chionoi's left eye began to swell after the 10th round and was closed by the end of the 11th.

Mercante had Torres leading on points, 116-107, before the 13th. One judge had 115-111 for Chionoi and another had it even 113-113.

Milwaukee North, Messmer Triumph in Overtime Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee North survived a scare, Milwaukee Marquette repeated history, and La Crosse Aquinas ran into an ambush on the Wisconsin high school basketball scene Saturday night.

North, the state's No. 1 ranked team, had to go into overtime to beat Milwaukee Marshall, 89-84 and extend its unbeaten streak to 14 games. Bruce Meredith's two baskets in the extra period broke Marshall's resistance.

Marquette, the state Catholic champion, got 29 points from Al McGuire Jr., son of the Marquette University coach, and defeated Milwaukee Messmer 56-51 in overtime.

Messmer lost to Marquette last March in the finals of the state Catholic tournament.

Beats Tquinas

Marshfield Columbus, winless all last season and a winner only twice previously this campaign, knocked off 10th-ranked La Crosse Aquinas 70-68 behind a 25-point performance by Paul Mancl. Mancl made 17 of 17 free throws to help send Aquinas down to defeat for the second time this year and the first time against a Wisconsin foe.

Eighth-ranked Wausau, beaten by La Crosse Central Friday night, took out its frustrations on Chippewa Falls and scored a 103-56 victory. Frank Schade scored 35 points for the winners.

Fifth-ranked Beloit belted Janesville Craig 77-53; fourth-ranked Eau Claire Memorial lost to Winona, Minn., 74-73; sixth-ranked Shorewood tripped Milwaukee Lutheran, 67-60.

St. Croix Man Tells Plan to Save 400 Minnesota Deer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Some 400 deer scheduled for slaughter at the Twin Cities arsenal may be saved by a secret plan developed by a Wisconsin game farm operator.

Richard Hanson of St. Croix Falls says his plan involves wooden corrals and darkness, but won't reveal details until he meets Monday with arsenal commander Maj. Fred Von Gortler.

The Army says the deer in the arsenal are a hazard to trucks laden with high explosives. An effort to tranquilize the animals failed.

It's always on Sunday for the New York Rangers. Well, almost always.

What it almost always is for the Rangers is a National Hockey League victory. And it was again Sunday night, 4-2 over the Oakland Seals.

The Rangers lost their first Sunday game of the season, 3-2 in Detroit Oct. 15 Since then they have reeled off 11 straight end-of-the-week triumphs, all at home.

While the Rangers were practicing their Sunday magic, elsewhere in the NHL Toronto was beating Chicago 3-1, Pittsburgh was edging Boston 1-0 and Los Angeles was blanking Philadelphia 2-0 Minnesota nipped Detroit 2-1 in an afternoon game.

"With the Rangers, we're not usually a good home team," said Harry Howell, now in his 16th year with New York. "But this year we've been playing good at home "

13 Victories

At home, the Rangers have posted 13 of their 22 victories, including their Sunday specials, and six of their eight ties while suffering only four of their 16 losses

Howell played a key role in the latest success. Not only did he help thwart an Oakland scoring bid when the Rangers were two men short, he also got the clinching goal, making it 3-1.

"It's like a pitcher hitting a home run," the veteran defenseman said of his third goal of the season.

Rod Gilbert scored twice and Bob Nevin once for the Rangers who outshot Oakland 46-13 but were given plenty of trouble by Seals goalie Charlie Hodge.

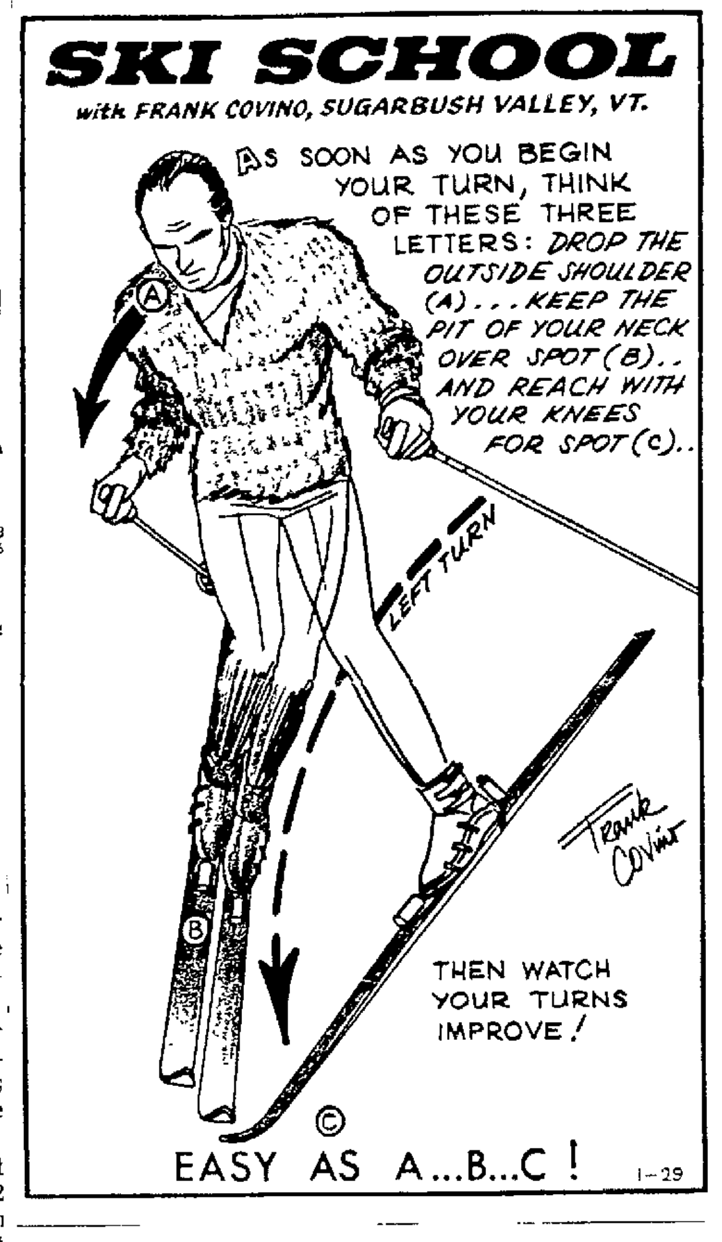
Pete Stemkowski scored a pair of unassisted goals in sparking Toronto past Chicago and into a three-way tie for second place with Boston and Chicago in the East Division, one point behind idle Montreal. Bob Pulford also scored for Toronto and Bill Orban for Chicago.

Stopped All Shots

Boston outshot Pittsburgh 33-16. But Pittsburgh goalie Les Binkley stopped all the Bruins' shots, while George Konik managed to get one past Boston's Gerry Cheevers.

Veteran goalie Terry Sawchuk picked up his first shutout of the season for Los Angeles, which cut Philadelphia's West Division lead to four points over second-place Minnesota. Howie Menard and Terry Gray scored for the third-place Kings.

Wayne Connelly won it for Minnesota by scoring 35 seconds after Detroit had tied the game in the second period. Roy Cullen got the North Stars first goal. Norm Ullman tallied for Detroit.



Feed Grain, Water Laws Calumet Topics

County Meetings Begin Thursday at New Holstein Hall

CHILTON — The Calumet County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASCS) and county agricultural agent have scheduled informational meetings to explain the 1968 Feed Grain (corn) program, 1967 crop loans and the water and zoning regulations.

The meetings will be at 1.30 p m Thursday at the New Holstein town hall and 8 p.m at the Forest Junction School, 1:30 p.m. Feb. 6 at the courthouse assembly room at Chilton and 8 p m. at the Sherwood School.

The 1968 program calls for a reduction of about 30 million acres of corn and grain sorghum, 10 million more than actually diverted in 1967. The reduction is designed to strengthen prices. As in past years the program is voluntary and program participants will be eligible for diversion payments as well as price support payments. Sign up will start Feb. 5 and continue through March 15.

The 1965 state legislature passed laws which makes shoreland and flood plain zoning mandatory this year. Bruno Zucollo, Calumet County soil conservationist, will replace County Agent Orrin Meyer to discuss the new water laws and how they will affect Calumet County farms. Meyer is taking graduate studies in Arizona.

Police Raid a Teen Beer Party

More Than 25 Youths Found in Cottage Saturday Night

Outagamie County authorities today continued investigation into a teen-age beer party Saturday night at a cottage near Shiocton.

Police were summoned to the cottage, owned by Leo Wilz of Appleton, about 10:30 p.m., by a citizen who reported hearing noises and saw cars parked near the building.

Police said there were about 25 or 30 youths in the cottage but several fled. There were eight cars in the yard when police arrived.

Names of 21 youths, including six juveniles, were obtained by police who at first were refused admittance to the building. Some of the youths were brought to the courthouse for questioning, then were released to their parents.

Several of them were from Appleton.

Police said they confiscated $12.46 found in a container. The money, they were told, had been collected to pay for the beer. Several containers of beer, which police observed in and near the cottage when they arrived, were carried away by youths who fled.

Police are attempting to determine if illegal entry had been made into the cottage.

Postal Official to Attend Session on Labor Problems

Rudy W. Haase, Appleton assistant postmaster, who is regional vice-president of the National Association of Postal Supervisors, will attend one of a series of labor-management training conferences that began today at the University of Oklahoma.

Four one-week conferences will be held. Postal officials from 300 post offices will take part.

The workshops will be addressed by top officials and will focus on techniques of bargaining at the local level, the practice of consultation with employe representatives and management responsibilities in labor relations.

The Appleton Post Office has written contracts with Branch 822 of the National Association of Letter Carriers and the Appleton local of the National Postal Union. The first contract negotiated was signed Sept. 10, 1963, between the postmaster and NALC Branch 822.

Fog Shrouds Jumpers

John Balfanz Wins Blackhawk Tourney

MADISON (AP) — John Balfanz of Denver, Colo., the sporting goods salesman who ranks first on the U.S. Olympic ski jumping team, Sunday won the 21st annual Blackhawk tournament at Tomahawk Ridge.

Balfanz soared 186 and 189 feet on his two jumps, for a score of 212 points.

In second place was Dave Hicks of Duluth, Minn., with 197.1 points on leaps of 176 and 182 feet. Third place went to Glenn Kotlarek of Duluth with jumps of 174 and 186 feet for 194.2 points.

Temperatures in the high 30s and a misty fog made the 105-foot steel slide slow and made jumping difficult. But officials added chemicals to the slide after the first round of jumps, and nearly all the 95 competitors bettered their distances in the second round.

Wright Heads Class B

Jim Wright of Eau Claire placed first in the Class B competition with jumps of 160 and 180 feet and 176.8 points

In junior competition, Tim Denisson of St Paul, Minn., and Greg Swor of Duluth placed first and second, respectively, and both had jumps of 195 feet—just 11 feet short of the hill record set last year by then world champion Bjorn Wirkola of Norway. Denisson finished with 210.9 points on jumps of 188 and 195 feet. Swor had 209.5 points on leaps of 190 and 195.

Seagren Clears 17 Feet

Little Sam Bair Wins Mile in Boston Games

BOSTON (AP) — Sam Bair's coach says the bony little miler can break four minutes right now and he knows it. Sam Bair says so too.

The only thing that kept Bair from turning the trick Saturday night in the Boston A.A Games, said Kent State Coach Doug Raymond, was overcautiousness.

"He didn't go out early enough," Raymond said. "He likes to lay back and rely upon his kick too much. He's beginning to realize he has to get out there. He could have done it tonight."

As it was, Bair, who at 21 stands a wispy 5-6 and weighs 126 pounds, ran the fastest mile of the 1968 indoor season, winning over a strong field in 4:01.9.

Mason Second

John Mason of Fort Hayes, Kan., State, was second in 4:03.8: Josef Odlozil of Czechoslovakia was third in 4:04.1 and Dave Bailey of Canada was fourth in 4:04.7.

Bob Seagren set a Boston record in the pole vault at 17-0¾, but failed on three attempts to raise his world indoor record an inch from 17-4¼. Still, it was the 12th time he has cleared 17 feet indoors, though he is no longer alone in tat department.

Saturday night in Portland, Ore, Finland's Altti Alartu, a student at Brigham Young, cleared 17 feet.

Some heated competition turned up in Boston as Tom Farrell of the Army won the 600, just beating Jim Kemp. Both were timed in 1:11.1. In the 440, Vince Matthews of Johnson C. Smith won over fast-closing Hardee McAlhaney of Tennessee Both were timed in 48.8.

Alarotu's pole vault and a dead heat in the 60 yard dash were the highlights of the Oregon Invitational at Portland, while veteran Mel Pender's triumph in the 60 was the surprise of the Albuquerque Invitational, the other two major Saturday meets.

Charles Green, formerly of Nebraska, and Canada's Harry Jerome tied in the 60 at Portland, each in 6 seconds flat, while Pender, a 30-year-old Army lieutenant, shocked a sparkling field in Albuquerque, also in 6 flat.

Bob Beaman, University of Texas-El Paso, remained unbeaten in the broad jump, going 25-8½ at Albuquerque, while George Woods, Long Beach, Calif., had a 66-11¼ shot put, best of the season.

Red Buildup Forces End To Tet Truce

American Officer Predicts 'Invasion' Near Khe Sanh

SAIGON (AP) — The allies called off the Tet truce in South Vietnam's northern military sector tonight because of a build-up of a massive North Vietnamese invasion force ready to spring after the cease-fire. The 36-hour standoff began elsewhere in the country, marking the Vietnamese lunar new year.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officials reported the enemy had four or five divisions—40,000 to 50,000 men—along the demilitarized zone and just over the border in Laos. The force included a new enemy unit, the 320th Division, the officials said.

"The threat is serious up there," a senior U.S. spokesman asserted. "It is not militarily logical to let the enemy have 36 hours of resupply and movement while we sit there and get hit. Why should we give the enemy 36 hours time to get into position when they've got three to four divisions there ready to whack us?"

'An Invasion'

Another senior U.S. officer said: "There are three divisions in the Khe Sanh area, and possibly a fourth. It is something I would label an invasion. It is no longer just infiltration."

Khe Sanh is in the jungled hills of northwest South Vietnam. The U.S. Marines are dug in there in a combat base just below the demilitarized zone.

The truce cancellation announcement also said U.S. air raids would continue during the truce period in North Vietnam's southern panhandle for a distance running about 125 miles north of the demilitarized zone to Vinh on the northern coast.

The U.S. Command has rushed nearly 10,000 Army troops to the five northern provinces—called the 1st Corps area—to back up the Marines spread along the DMZ. More Army forces are likely to be dispatched soon.

The United States has three divisions in the 1st Corps area—perhaps 60,000 troops. The South Vietnamese have 12,000 men there.

The allied Tet cease-fire went into effect elsewhere at 6 p.m. —4 a.m., CST. The announcement of the cancellation for the northern sector came from the South Vietnamese government.

Two major actions were reported along the northern frontier since the unilateral seven-day Communist truce went into effect Saturday at 1 a.m. Saigon time. The fighting left 203 North Vietnamese and 26 U.S. Marines dead and another 117 Marines wounded, the U.S. Command announced in reports delayed for what it termed security reasons.

In the heaviest action, Marines fought a 2½-hour pitched battle Saturday with dug-in North Vietnamese troops 15 miles northeast of Khe Sanh and seven miles below the DMZ. Nineteen Marines and 151 North Vietnamese troops were reported killed. Ninety Marines were wounded.

Holdup Men Escape With 7 Hostages

Police Interrupt Robbery Attempt At Denver Market

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Seven persons—including a police sergeant, a woman and a small child—were taken hostage today when officers interrupted a super market holdup in northeast Denver.

"Abandon chase. Stay back. They're threatening to shoot," radioed Police Sgt. Lawrence P. Morahan, after two of the three suspects commandeered a police cruiser and forced him to drive west of the city.

About 10 miles west of the city, the cruiser—red lights flashing and siren screaming—headed back toward the city. About 45 minutes after the holdup, the suspects abandoned the cruisers, taking Morahan along and picked up additional hostages when they commandeered a sedan.

One Hostage Freed

One hostage then was released. He carried the warning from the captors that unless police and news cars abandoned pursuit, and radio and television stations stopped broadcasting reports of the case, the police officer would be shot.

Unmarked cars continued following the crammed panel truck, and progress of the helter-skelter chase was followed by at least one plane.

By nearly 1½ hours after the holdup at the King Soopers Market, the suspects were driving along at a leisurely pace.

One suspect was arrested at the market, when Morahan and another officer interrupted the robbery.

The bandits, cornered in a basement, took three store employes hostage. Morahan was ordered to "hold it" as he started down the stairs, and he and the others were herded into the cruiser.

President's Record Budget Lists Surtax as 'War Levy'

$76.7 Billion Is Proposed For Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson handed Congress today a $76.7 billion defense budget reflecting "our resolve to preserve the independence of Vietnam" and provide the nuclear and conventional forces essential to national security.

His military spending proposals for the 1969 fiscal year are nearly $3 billion bigger than this year. Vietnam accounts for one-third of the entire military budget.

But except for Vietnam war costs, it is essentially a hold-down budget with few surprises.

Johnson said the money he is asking for the 12 months beginning July 1 "will cover all currently anticipated defense requirements for the fiscal year, including the possibility of continuation of combat in Vietnam beyond this period."

Before Crisis

The new defense budget was completed before the crisis developed last week over North Korea's seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Nobody knows how long that crisis will last, or whether North Korea's new challenge will trigger a major expansion in U.S. military strength.

Nearly 14,800 air reservists already have been mustered for indefinite active duty. More reservists, possibly ground troops, may be called.

Assuming the Pueblo crisis can be solved before the new fiscal year opens five months from now, Johnson is planning a 13,000-man cut in the total of men under arms to 3,477,000 by June 30, 1969.

At the same time, present intentions are to reach 525,000 men in Vietnam and to stay at about that level throughout the 1969 fiscal year. About 517,000 U.S. troops will be in place by June 30, the end of the 1968 fiscal year.

Course of War

Whether Johnson can carry out this plan depends on the course of the war. He and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said a year ago they felt they could hold the force level in Vietnam to about 480,000.

The military cost of the Vietnam war will rise to $25.8 billion in fiscal 1969, according to Johnson's projections. This would be

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked for "sacrifice and hard choices" today in a budget message calling for record outlays of $186.1 billion and a $10.2 billion income tax surcharge—in effect, he said, a war levy.

"It is not the rise in regular budget outlays which requires a tax increase, but the war in Vietnam," Johnson told the Congress which has stalled off an election-year tax boost.

Budget in Brief

	1968	1969
	In billions
Outlays	$175.6	$186.1
Income	155.6	178.1
Deficit	19.1	8.0
Debt at Yr.-end	370	387.2

The presidential message gave high priority to government attacks on poverty, crime and pollution on the home front, and to a $76.7 billion outlay for the Defense Department—almost one-third of it to be spent on Vietnam alone.

But he pounded again and again, in a 556-page message drafted in a new-style "unified" format, on the need for an anti-inflationary 10 per cent tax boost starting April 1 for individuals and retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations.

Without the tax hike, he warned, the federal deficit "would be near $20 billion for the second year in a row." With it, the fiscal 1969 deficit will be $8 billion, he said.

'Peacetime Deficit'

But the message disclosed that fiscal 1968, the government year now half over, will show the biggest "peacetime" deficit in history, $19.8 billion. The Johnson deficit eclipses President Dwight D. Eisenhower's red-ink record of 1959, $12.4 billion.

From Congress came indications Johnson's tax hike proposal faces serious problems unless spending is first trimmed considerably.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said it appears "we're going to have to do some pretty extensive cutting." Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, a GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee said the budget continues a deficit spending trend "both clear and shocking."

But Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the Appropria-

Gamblers, Firearms

Forced Registering Invalidated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the forced federal registration of gamblers violates the Constitution, and also held that the government can not force individuals to register firearms.

In both cases, the court held 7-1 that the requirements run contrary to the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

Sawed-off shotguns, machine guns and certain other firearms were covered in the arms registration case.

The gambling registration decision bars prosecution of gamblers who refuse to register on the grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Similarly, it bars prosecution of gamblers who refuse to pay a special yearly tax of $50 and to pay 10 per cent excise on wagers received by them.

'Not Trifling'

The "hazards of incrimination" that go with the federal gambling requirements "are not trifling or imaginary," Justice John M. Harlan said.

He said gamblers can expect that registration and payment of tax "will significantly enhance the likelihood of their prosecution for future acts, and that it will readily provide evidence which will facilitate their convictions."

Chief Justice Earl Warren dissented, saying that only by requiring gamblers to "come forward under pain of criminal sanctions and reveal the nature and scope of their activities can Congress confidently expect that revenue derived from that outlawed occupation will be subject to the legitimate reach of the tax laws."

Justice Thurgood Marshall did not take part in the case, presumably because he is a former Justice Department official.

The federal law making it a crime to possess certain kinds of unregistered firearms was successfully challenged by Miles Edward Haynes, of Dallas, Tex., who was sentenced to four years in prison on conviction of possessing an unregistered shotgun.

Haynes contended he was being punished for refusing to incriminate himself by declaring himself the possessor of an unregistered shotgun. Forced self-incrimination is prohibited by the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The 1934 National Firearms Act grew out of the attempted assassination of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933. It imposes annual occupational taxes on those who manufacture, import or sell certain firearms and puts a tax on the transfer of some other guns.

Different Stands Taken on Answer to Pueblo Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators say such military action as a blockade of North Korea or sinking its gunboats are possible if she refuses to return the USS Pueblo and its crew of 83.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen also said Sunday that if diplomatic means fail, "we are going to have to put our foot down."

But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield continued to urge caution, saying avoidance of another Asian war must be a paramount goal.

The congressional reaction to the Pueblo crisis came as the Pentagon announced that U.S. air power in the Far East is being beefed up as a precautionary move. Details were kept secret.

Other Washington developments in the aftermath of the Pueblo's seizure:

—The Navy froze most requests for discharge by members of Naval Reserve units. There are more than 133,000 Naval Reservists in drill-pay status.

—Sources said that while the U.N. Security Council continued, this country was asking several countries for backstage help in resolving the crisis.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee mentioned a possible blockade if the North Koreans don't return the ship and crew.

Stennis did not advocate any specific military action, mentioning the blockade possibility during an interview. But he said he wouldn't "rule out anything," including the use of nuclear weapons.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., suggested the United States might start sinking North Korean gunboats or holding that country's merchant ships hostage if peaceful means fail.

"It was an act of piracy, it's an act of war, and I believe that we should make an appropriate response," Long said.

But Mansfield, who has maintained any "rash act" must be averted, said: "If it would bring about the release of the ship and the crew, I would admit that it was taken in territorial waters, even though that is not the truth.

"I am satisfied that the Pueblo was in international waters where it had a right to be," he continued. "But if we could avoid a new war by a concession of this kind on the record, I would do it."

Dirksen said he supports

Premier Says, 'The Time Will Come'

Kosygin Predicts U.S.-Soviet Accord

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin says that cooperation some day between the United States and the Soviet Union is inevitable, but he rejects any Soviet government role in finding peace in Vietnam except on the terms of its Communists.

The premier outlined his views to the editors of Life magazine, who described his words as a "chilling recital of how the Soviet Union views the United States." He denounced all major aspects of U.S. foreign policy, particularly in the Middle East and in Vietnam.

Kosygin's view, as expressed in the Moscow interview Jan. 19, is that U.S. policy forces the Soviet Union and others to "spend more funds" than they want to on the military, and that thus "the growth of the living standards of all people is being inhibited all over the world." But he predicted that some day, because of the very size and power of the two nations, the Americans and Russians would move toward cooperation. This cooperation, however, would be on the basis of "the struggle for peace," he said. The Communists often equate the "struggle for peace" with the advance of communism.

"We think the time will come," said Kosygin, "when the United States and the Soviet Union are sure to cooperate. We are convinced that the American people will find ways of stopping the war and aggression. Cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States is inevitable because two such great countries in the world cannot but cooperate. Our people are increasingly realizing this, and such cooperation must be based on the struggle for peace. We shall wage this struggle and shall resolutely fight against aggression and wars."

Because of Vietnam and other issues, Kosygin said, Soviet-American relations now are "very complicated," and "we cannot say that normal relations exist between us." He traced much of the strain to Vietnam. Asked if his talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson indicated Moscow was making efforts to find a solution, Kosygin rejected that role.

"I have no authority to conduct talks with anybody about ending the war in Vietnam," he said. "I wish to make this clear so that no one has the false impression that the Soviet government has such authority, to conduct talks with Harold Wilson, Lyndon Johnson or anybody else. . . The United States cannot defeat Vietnam, and we for our part, will do all we can so that the United States does not defeat Vietnam."

Waupaca Officials Split on Moving Offices to Armory

State Asked To Inspect City Hall

WAUPACA — A dispute has developed among city officials on whether to move the city hall offices to the vacated national guard armory or remodel present facilities.

The controversy stemmed mainly from Ald. Edsel Huntoon's (1st) statements last week, opposing a move.

He stated his position Tuesday at the first meeting of the special committee, which was named to study the proposed move.

Huntoon contended the present city building was suitable and the city could not afford to remodel the armory for new quarters.

Mayor Lloyd Matheson, after hearing Huntoon's remarks, said the city hall building was in poor condition structurally, and no longer adequate to house the city offices. The fire and police departments also have offices there.

State Inspection

Matheson said he asked the State Industrial Commission to inspect the building. He expected the inspection to be sometime this week.

The suggested move to the armory was considered after the Waupaca National Guard unit was disbanded last December.

The city council named an eight-member committee Jan. 16 to study the proposed move and prepare remodeling plans.

Committee members are Alds. Robert Strebe, chairman, Leo Martin and Rueben Nelson; Iver Oerter, city engineer; Jerome Schultz, city assessor and building inspector; Fred Ras-

Report Record Growth

Lutheran Aid Has $32 Million New Life Insurance in 1967

A record year of growth and continued prospects for more of the same at Aid Association for Lutherans were reported by AAL President Walter L. Rugland Friday in his annual statement to the board of directors.

The amount of new life insurance paid for in 1967 — $478 million — was $32 million more than for the previous year and exceeded the prior year's production for the 29th consecutive time.

Life insurance in force increased almost $365,000,000, reaching $3.987 billion in force at year end The $4 billion mark was passed Friday.

"The past year has seen evidences of greater frustration and uncertainties about the future among leading life insurance people than at any time in my memory," Rugland told the board. He noted, however, that a task force appointed by the directors of the Institute of Life Insurance had reported that continued population growth, particularly in the age group below 25, and rising family income replacement in the ued great need for life insurance. The report cited strong and perhaps growing competition for the consumer's savings dollar. Rugland pointed out, "but in the area of proving income replacement in the event of death or disability, there is no threat whatever to the life insurance business."

Human Resources

"The development of our human resources is the most important of the management problems facing AAL in the next decade." Rugland declared "Problems of public motivation and competition with other financial media will be a reflection of our knowledge of the social and economic environment in which we operate and the appropriate and imaginative use of this knowledge "

Assets of AAL rose over $60 million to $657 million during the year, Rugland said, with premium income almost $79 million and income from investments in excess of $31 million

In making his traditional 10-year comparison of business activity Rugland noted that new life insurance paid for during this decade was up 141 per cent, the number of new certificates issued is up about 40 per cent, insurance in force is up 215 per cent

Aid Association for Lutherans now has nearly 850,000 members in all 50 states and five provinces of Canada who hold over a million contracts of life insurance or life annuities.

Investments Report

In his report to the president and board, William H Zuehlke, Jr., senior vice president and director of investments, said that about $77 million in new long-term investments were made in 1967 which will provide an average yield of 6 19 per cent. That compares with 5.84 per cent yield on such investments a year ago The net yield from all investments in 1967 was 5.0 per cent, compared with 4 83 per cent for the prior year.

George V. Krampien, senior vice president and director of agencies, reported that December production of new insurance paid for exceeded $59 million, an all-time record for a single month. During the year, district representatives placed 70,515 certificates, with an average production of $658,171, also an all-time record.

Gerald C. Herzfeldt, vice president and director of fraternal affairs, reported benevolence grants in 1967 amounted to $1,068,151, another record, with more than 1,300 recipients of individual educational awards Grants to education of all types exceeded $732,000 The Fraternal Affairs Division also supervises the activities of AAL's 4,166 local branches (86 new ones in 1967) and processed more than 170,000 address changes and 59,494 branch changes during the year.

Three revisions in surplus refunds payments will result in an additional $1,300,000 in surplus refunds to members this year, according to Henry F. Scheig, newly appointed executive vice president Last July, changes in term insurance riders and the interest rates applicable to some types of surplus refunds will result in an increase of $500,000 in surplus refunds payments Another change effective Jan. 1, 1968, and affecting almost all business issued before 1962, will result in additional payments of $800,000 to members

New Benefits

During the year AAL introduced a new orphans fraternal benefit and by year end applications had been received from four families involving nine orphans Cyrus Rachie, senior vice president and legal counsel, said

The Treasurer's Division, headed by Vice President and Treasurer Wilmer C Stach, the Personnel and Communications Division, headed by T H Hartman, vice president and director of personnel and communications and the Secretary's Division headed by Secretary John Steudel, were reorganized in 1967.

Stach outlined for the board work already completed on AAL's new information system, the first phase of which went into operation in September and additional improvements utilizing the System-360 Model 30 computer which are scheduled in 1969 Hartman described work done on the Association's new graphics design study, results of which will be seen in 1968, production of a colored motion picture telling the story of AAL, and the affiliation with The Biddle Company, Bloomington, Ill advertising agency.

Steudel's report explained the work of several units which were placed under the Secretary's Division, including the office services-general operating unit which handled more than 3,900,000 pieces of outgoing mail and microfilmed over 5 million pieces of material in 1967.

Follows K-C Move

C of C Defends Oshkosh Port

OSHKOSH — The Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce has set as one of its 1968 goals the maintenance of Winnebago County's regional airport.

The move follows the recent termination by Kimberly-Clark Corp., of its Winnebago County Airport hangar lease with the county.

The firm also signed a 15-year lease with Outagamie County to be effective Jan. 31, 1969, the date that its lease with Winnebago County terminates.

The new lease will have three five-year renewal options and Outagamie County has agreed to build a new hangar so the firm can house its four engine jet, twin engine jet, twin engine prop-jet and conventional twin engine plane.

The use of the Winnebago County Airport hangar which the firm currently occupies has not yet been determined.

In a statement of the 1968 priority projects, the chamber states, "Outagamie County, under the guise of general aviation, hopes to establish its airport as the major airport between Fond du Lac and Green Bay."

"The movement of Kimberly-Clark to Outagamie County is an example," the report said.

"An aggressive program is needed to build general aviation here to retain state and federal support of our facility," it continued.

"The chamber plans to push for development of an air industrial park adjacent to the Winnebago County Airport that would encourage local firms with aircraft to move next to the field and attract new firms who would do business by air," it said.

The chamber also will join with other state cities to support North Central Airlines, petition for single plane service to Minneapolis-St. Paul, Detroit, Boston, New York, Washington, D.C., and other eastern cities.

The Winnebago County Airport already has scheduled additional service to its passengers.

Louis Griedl, North Central station manager at the airport, said beginning Feb. 1 non-stop, DC-9 jet service would be available to and from Chicago, with flights originating and terminating at Oshkosh.

According to Griedl, flight 231 will leave Chicago at 10:30 a m and terminate at Oshkosh at 11:10 a.m. Flight 232, originating at Oshkosh, will depart nonstop to Chicago, arriving there at 12 10 p.m.

Griedl noted that the flights are scheduled at the prime time of the day, thereby allowing connections to most or all major aircraft in Chicago.

Winnebago County began its jet service in September and currently has two jets making stops at Oshkosh.

Get-Acquainted Party

Saturday morning the group congregated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Behnke for a talent show rehearsal and in the afternoon played volleyball, ping pong, badminton and danced at the high school. Plans for an afternoon of snowmobiling, skating and tobogganing had to be canceled due to bad weather.

About 175 persons attended the 6 p.m. dinner Saturday during which the AFS students performed in a talent show. A dance at the high school followed this event.

Guests attended church with their host families Sunday and departed for their homes in the afternoon.

Nurse Praises Health Attitude At New London

NEW LONDON — Mrs. Alice Murray, city-school nurse, praised the attitude of residents here toward public health at the quarterly city-school health committee meeting.

"Community attitude toward public health is very important — and New London residents have an excellent attitude," she said. Mrs. Murray made the statement Thursday following a discussion of health programs during 1967.

Some of the highlights of the report were the first tuberculosis-free year and highly successful immunization clinics for red measles, tuberculosis skin-testing, vision and hearing tests, and small pox, diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus innoculation and the mobile health visit at which 1,500 people were examined.

Mrs. Murray is to investigate the cost of having city health records micro-filmed and report back to the health committee.

The committee approved having the audiometer used for hearing testing recalibrated for use next fall and to investigate the cost of purchasing a new machine.

City health records have been moved into the nurses office at city hall, Mrs. Murray reported.

CLINTONVILLE — A travelogue for the women and information concerning trends in farm buildings will be features of the annual farm institute here Tuesday, Feb. 6, according to co-chairmen Jerry Tooley and Tony Henn.

The program for the women will be in the Little Theater of the senior high school and feature Louis Kruckenberg of Clintonville who will discuss his trip through Russia.

The men's program in the gym will be presented by Prof. Edward Bruns of the University of Wisconsin Agricultural Engineering Department. Bruns has worked on farm building problems throughout the state, in other states and in foreign countries.

Both programs begin at 10:30 a.m. The Clintonville Association of Commerce is sponsoring the noon lunch.

Population Trends

The afternoon program, directed by Sherwood Lorenz, features a discussion on past and present trends in population shifts in the state and area by Prof. Jay Johnson of the University of Wisconsin Rural Sociology Department.

Also on the program will be Robert Thom, Neenah High School vice principal, who will discuss "The Good Life."

Dairymen are reminded of the quality roughage and silage contest. Prizes will be awarded for the best first and second cutting alfalfa and corn or grass silage.

Hay samples of two to three pounds should be properly identified and placed in a plastic bag or box. One quart silage samples should, be in plastic bags. Samples should be delivered to Robert Schlomann or Frank Urbanz, Clintonville agricultural instructors, and should be in place before noon.

New London Golf Club Eyes Building Expansion Program

NEW LONDON — Several New London Golf Club improvements favored by the general membership at its annual winter meeting Thursday now will come under the consideration of the board of directors.

Improvements the board will study are the remodeling and expansion of the club house, installation of watering devices on the two unwatered fairways and greens, and construction of a new storage shed for hand and power golf carts.

A new "members only" sign is to be posted at the entrance to the club.

A committee, headed by Herman Platte, was named to fill the member list of the private club. Werner Koehler, secretary-treasurer, said a limited number of shares of stock were available to the public.

Applications for membership in the club are available from Koehler or Platte.

Bureau Head Optimistic

Milk Order Offers Benefits

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

OSHKOSH — The proposed Chicago milk market order offers some long range benefits to the Wisconsin dairy farmer and may pave the way to needed significant mergers within the industry. Percy Hardiman, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, told the Post-Crescent during an exclusive interview last week.

Hardiman operates a 320 acre dairy farm near Hartland in addition to overseeing the state division of the nation's largest farm organization.

He said it was his "personal view" that the proposal would create stability and halt the inter-market bargaining which "cuts farmer's threats." It would establish a single uniform price within the order area.

He ships to the Milwaukee market and would stand to lose 29 cents per hundredweight on the blend price which is that much higher than the present Chicago pool. He admitted that from a short range view it would appear to be a disadvantage.

Significant Mergers

The stability may create an improved climate which could bring about significant mergers in the state.

Hardiman also saw gains from the proposed milk marketing checkoff on milk payments to be used for promoting dairy products. A plan has been advanced by the American Dairy Association.

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau had been directed by its members to explore the pros and cons of the proposal. Hardiman felt there were more significant reasons for favoring it.

He said the Farm Bureau and ADA directors had been conferring on the matter and Hardiman felt it might be better for them both to choose an equal number of representatives for a third group.

This agency would outline both sides of the plan and present it for a referendum vote by the state's dairymen. He saw these advantages:

Advantages Cited

— The ADA field force would be saved from signing up individual farmers for the checkoff.

— It would generate enough money to develop new dairy products using butterfat, flavored milks and solid non-fat items.

— It would bring in the non-contributing farmer who has benefited from past promotions of dairy products.

— Farmers could decide every two years if they wanted to continue the practice.

Among the disadvantages he saw these:

— A state agency (Wisconsin Department of Agriculture) would be used to collect the funds. There is no law which stipulates this money must go to the ADA.

There is no record of the pounds of milk going to many smaller cheese factories. There would be a problem of how to police the checkoffs without a record such as the larger cooperatives offer. There might be suspicion that the operators were not collecting and remitting the checkoff funds.

The state department could and would advertise for companies to conduct the promotion campaign. The department would decide who got the funds.

Research is needed but the problem remains on how to divide the funds and what to research. Provisions also must include the farmer's voice in decision making.

Turning to the livestock industry, Hardiman pointed out that only 20 per cent of the farm livestock sold is through a farm organization. The balance is sold through independent dealers.

"We have been afraid to move over the years but now we are ready to move and take the flak along the way to reach objectives. Why should the farmer be taking the lowest price for his livestock grade by grade sold in Wisconsin below prices in our sister states?" he asked.

Last year the Farm Bureau and Wisconsin Feeder Pig Co-op purchased the Badger Livestock Sales, Inc., which is represented on the Milwaukee terminal market. Hardiman admitted that volume on the terminal markets had been declining in recent years.

Better Prices

"But it is still influential in setting prices," he observed and hoped it would tend to influence better prices throughout the state. He said the Farm Bureau's successful techniques in marketing vegetables could also be applied to livestock.

As an example, he said, the Farm Bureau discovered that processors in New Jersey were paying $60 per ton more than in Wisconsin. With information on the national scene the agency will be able to assist state farmers during negotiations here this year.

In another instance he described how apple growers from seven states are marketing their production together for price advantage. He predicted that in future years there would be more regional negotiations on commodities.

Slipping and Sliding, Four Safety Council skid testers drive over nine acres of clean and polished ice near Stevens Point. The tests, scheduled Jan. 29-Feb. 9, measure skid distances and are part of the National Safety Council's annual winter tests.

Winter Tests in Stevens Point

Safety Council Drivers Start Sliding Around

Special to the Post-Crescent

STEVENS POINT — The ice skating penguin and more than a quarter-million dollars worth of test equipment today transformed this small city into the Skid Sapitol of the World.

The penguin, pictured skidding across an ice-blue field, is the symbol of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. He shows up on a shoulder patch worn by members of the committee.

Equipment ranges from a $75,000 combination of friction test trailer and towing truck to a small, glass pyrheliometer bulb valued at $350. All of it is used in the annual winter tests conducted here by the council.

Friction trailers are instrumented so a controlled amount of brake effect can be applied to trailer wheels and the result can be measured. They're used to test various kinds of tires and surfaces. The pyrheliometer bulb — looking like an old-fashioned, over-size light bulb — measures the amount of solar radiation being received at the test site.

Skidding Distance Tests

Four passenger cars also will be used. Test drivers will slide them across carefully polished glare ice at carefully measured speeds, to correlate skidding distances on various tires with the friction trailer results.

Other tests planned for the two-week session include:

—Evaluating the steering, braking and stability of triple tractor-trailer units (three trailers behind a towing tractor) on glare ice.

—Measuring the abrasive characteristics of salt spreads (not their effectiveness in melting ice or snow).

—Checking the performance of "siped" passenger car tires (thin cuts in the tread to improve traction).

—Testing the performance of a commercial device claimed to prevent uncontrolled skids while braking.

For the test session, about 40 experts — auto company engineers, tire specialists, university professors, product development engineers, and others — gather here each year. Duties are assigned to each, but they are rarely in keeping with the relatively exalted positions the skid testers hold while at home, on what they learn to their students. And their students will be the driver education teachers for tomorrow's high school pupils. The committee hopes to stimulate the creation of similar skid schools in local communities throughout the nation's "snow belt."

Some experts, for example, are assigned to keep the nine acres of ice clean, smooth and polished. Others will spend almost the entire test session changing tires, driving test vehicles across the ice, making weather observations, or any of a variety of other duties — almost all of them cold.

After the conclusion of its regular two-week test session, the committee will conduct a series of two-day skid schools for college and university professors who will, in turn, pass

Hausmann lost to Mullarkey, then the Hausmann, Petoka defeated the Whetter rink, Wauwatosa, and the Cochrane rink.

Other rinks that participated in the bonspiel were skipped by Chuck Banker, Appleotn; Dr. Cliff Wiengert, Wauwatosa, and Chet Nichols, Waupaca.

Jack McConley, bonspiel chairman said the name of the first event winner will be inscribed on the plaque at the Clintonville Curling Club. Individual trophies were presented members of the rinks winning first place in each of the three events.

Alewife Control Bill Asked by Proxmire

Canadian Ships Would be Used To Avert Another Massive Die-Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan to head off another massive alewife die-off like the one last summer that clogged Lake Michigan beaches with the small fish and resulted in heavy financial losses has been proposed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Part of his plan is a bill which would allow American fishermen to use Canadian - built trawlers for the next three years to catch alewives in Lake Michigan. Present law prohibits the use of foreign-built vessels in U.S. fisheries.

"The die-off last year cost the states bordering Lake Michigan well over $55 million and cost one steel plant about $5 million for the 10 days the plant was incapacitiated by masses of dead alewives."

Proxmire commented in a speech for delivery in the Senate.

"This year the prospects are just as bleak," he said. "The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries of the Department of the Interior indicates that we can expect at least as heavy a die-off as last year.

"It will be at least three years until predator game fish such as salmon now being placed in Lake Michigan will bring growth of the alewife population under control according to the most optimistic estimates. But we face another die-off disaster this summer. We have to do something now."

The Proxmire bill would permit American fishermen to employ presently under-utilized Canadian trawlers which have a larger hold capacity than most vessels in the American Lake Michigan fleet.

It would also make federal loans available to Lake Michigan fishermen to aid in buying new equipment needed to catch alewives.

Additional funds would also be provided to the Interior Department for better research into control of the alewife.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

$186.1 Billion Budget Proposed

tions Committee called both budget cuts and the tax boost inevitable. Mahon, who refused last year to support a tax hike, said he is "committed completely" to the proposal this year.

"We have to move on both fronts," he added, "increasing revenues and decreasing spending. We can't wait any longer."

The budget makes no provision for a jump in military spending arising from North Korea's seizure of the Navy ship Pueblo and the resulting call-up of 14,800 reservists. Budget Director Charles L. Schultze told newsmen.

But the call-up would not affect the huge defense budget significantly, Schultze added.

The startling height of the new spending total is due chiefly to the "unified budget" format recommended by a bipartisan presidential commission. But actual dollar outlays are escalating, too. They will climb $10.4 billion, or 5 per cent, next year if Congress permits.

The new-look budget shows outlays about $47 billion higher than they would have looked under the old-fashioned "administrative budget" because it adds onto the regular federal spending the outlays of the huge government-held trust funds—such as highways, Social Security and medicare. Payments into those funds are for the first time treated just like regular tax collections.

Those were mere paper changes. More significant disclosures came in these Johnson highlights:

War—Vietnam costs add up to $25.8 billion in the new budget, rising $1.3 billion from this year. In four fiscal years, 1966-69, the U.S. will have poured $75 billion into the war.

Excise—The 10 per cent telephone tax and 7 per cent auto excise should be extended beyond April 1, Johnson said, instead of dropping then to 1 per cent and 2 per cent respectively. This, plus the surtax and proposed speedup of corporate tax payments, would bring total tax increases to $12.9 billion in fiscal 1969.

Construction — A broad slowdown looms in federal construction. Cutbacks will reduce 1969 building programs by about $1.6 billion below the appropriated levels of 1968, Johnson said.

Federal Debt — The national debt, as measured by the unified budget, will total $387.2 billion on June 30, 1969. Since part of this is not subject to the congressional debt ceiling—which rises automatically to $365 billion on July 1—Johnson said no increase in the legal limit will be needed. But if Congress fails to vote the surcharge, he will have to ask an increase.

Credit—A possible squeeze on on the supply of mortgage credit, perhaps enough to damage the housing recovery, is seen in a proposed curtailment of the Federal National Mortgage Association. The FNMA's mortgage purchases—which funnel money into the hands of mortgage lenders—would be cut from this year's $2.3 billion to less than $1 billion in 1968.

Housing — In an apparent effort to offset the FNMA squeeze, Johnson recommended elimination of the 6 per cent ceiling on interest rates on mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration and guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

Many of the proposed cuts would require legislation, and most were deep enough to assure heated opposition when they start through the congressional mill.

On the up side, about $3.3 billion of the $10.4 billion budget increase would go into the military budget, Johnson said, producing an over-all national defense outlay of $79.6 billion. The latter figure includes not only the Pentagon's $76.7 billion but indirect defense outlays in the atomic energy, stockpile and other programs.

Another $3.9 billion increase reflects enlarged Social Security, medicare and other social insurance benefits. About $1.6 billion reflects the government pay increaase voted by Congress last year.

Steadily climbing interest charges on the federal debt will add $900 million to the taxpayers' costs, bringing the total interest outlay to $14.4 billion.

The President listed several other "high priority" domestic programs for which selective increases are recommended, even as less urgent programs are to be cut. These were among the increases:

Crime control, including safe streets legislation, up $63.2 million.

Health care for mothers and infants, and family planning, up $46 million to $269 million.

State Weekend Toll

Weather Plays Part In 5 of 8 Road Deaths

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The yearly toll stands at 65 today, compared with 62 on the same date in 1967.

Three persons were killed in a two-car crash on snow-covered U. S. 51 south of Hurley in Iron County Saturday. Two others died Saturday in Shawano County when two autos collided on ice-glazed State 29 east of Bonduel.

Joseph Stanley Abrahamson, 23, and Michael C. LeBaron, 22, both from Waukegon, Ill., died in the Iron County crash Saturday, along with Mrs. John Koch, 51, Ironwood, Mich. Abrahamson and LeBaron were on a weekend skiing outing. Mrs. Koch's husband, a clergyman, was hospitalized in critical condition.

Arthur Harback, 67, Green Bay, was killed in the Shawano County crash and Thomas Schroeder, 19, Kewaunee, died Saturday night in a Green Bay hospital of injuries he suffered in the accident.

Harold Knudtson, 26, Gilmanton, died Saturday when his car swerved out of control and slammed into guardposts on State 37 two miles south of Mondovi in Buffalo County. The road was dry.

George N. Egerer, 40, rural Port Washington, died Friday night when a car struck him as he walked along State 32 near his home.

Many leading authorities say there is no cure for hemorrhoids short of surgery. But in some cases there is a product that may relieve hemorrhoid pain. Its name is M.P.O.—Mentholatum Pile Ointment. M.P.O. contains Benzocaine, a topical anesthetic hospitals use to soothe burns and skin rash. It can give relief for hours. Get M.P.O. at your drug counter, in ointment or suppositories.

Huntoon charged that since the national guard has moved, "everyone is in a big hurry to move the city hall".

Moving of the city hall to the armory has been discussed and considered for several years. Matheson answered, adding that when a six-bay garage was added to the armory several years ago it was designed to accommodate the city fire trucks.

"Fire Chief Hanson even assisted in planning the garage," Matheson stated.

Differ on Remodeling

Officials also differ on whether the city can afford to remodel the armory.

Huntoon stated the city was in financial trouble, operating on a day-to-day basis.

"We have got to build a new disposal plant, costing perhaps a half million dollars, a new water tank and this pump (for a new city well which is being developed) is costing exorbitant amounts of money," Huntoon said.

Matheson responded the city is not in financial trouble nor has it over extended its borrowing power.

"Ald. Huntoon is taking a wild guess at what the sewage treatment plant will cost and the new well would have been cheaper if Huntoon wouldn't have done everything in his power to stop its construction," Matheson said.

When asked about a future use of the armory, Huntoon did not know, but added that he asked Raymond Martin, president of the Waupaca Board of Education, if the school would be interested in using the armory for classrooms.

"They didn't seem to be interested in my proposal," Huntoon said.

Can Quit

Huntoon said if city officials, and the police and fire departments are not satisfied with present quarters, maybe they should all quit. More people who thought the present quarters were adequate could be hired.

He also recommended a referendum: "If the taxpayers of the city would vote to move the city hall then I would go along with them."

Remodeling cost for a city hall in the armory has not been determined at this time, Strebe said. The meeting Tuesday was the committee's first. The members toured the armory and discussed briefly where the various offices could be located if a move was made, he said.

"We want to do what is best for the city and determine through a study of both buildings if it would be to the best advantage to remodel the armory or repair the present city hall building," Strebe said. "I have not committed myself on moving and will not do so until we have all the cost figures."

Nelson echoed the same sentiment.

Oerter agreed the present city hall was in very poor condition and commented that it is very unfortunate that a controversy should develop at this time.

If the committee would have been allowed time to study the proposed remodeling and obfear of state condemnation of tained cost estimates without the present city hall, it would have been better for all concerned, he said.

An office space shortage has been a problem for several years, city officials said. The four fire trucks are parked in tandum, which is the the best situation, and the heavy trucks driving in and out of the building are not doing it any good, one offiical said.

Huntoon said he would bring the issue to the council floor at the Feb. 6 regular meeting.

Alcohol and Gasoline Don't Mix

Drivers in England and Cuba are being told that alcohol and gasoline don't mix — but the reasons authorities are cautioning the public provide an interesting comparison of the political systems in the two countries.

British drivers have been maiming each other on the highways at a rate which has caused officials to take added steps. A new law permits police to stop motorists at random and give them roadside breath tests. If the check indicates the presence of a certain amount of alcohol in the blood, the driver is asked to undergo further tests. The night-time accident rate in London was slashed 42 per cent during the first month after the law went into effect.

Cuban motorists, on the other hand, have been warned not to dump alcohol into their gasoline tanks in an effort to stretch the gasoline. The communist island is having its economic difficulties and gasoline rationing has resulted. Cuban drivers now are allowed between eight and 25 gallons per month.

The situations in the two countries speak louder than much of the propaganda which capitalist and communist nations disseminate each year. Problems exist in both, but most persons would prefer to have the difficulties facing drivers in Great Britain rather than those of Cuban motorists.

Britain and the Trucial Coast

The British intention to withdraw military forces from the Persian Gulf as well as the Far East has raised concern among a group of Arab shieks. "In general terms," the shieks have even offered to help finance a continuation of British strength in the area

The shieks rule in an area called the Trucial Coast, dating back more than a hundred years to a treaty signed with Great Britain called the Perpetual Maritime Truce The rulers of the Trucial States agreed to refrain from piracy and to permit Great Britain to conduct their foreign affairs in exchange for British protection.

Today piracy is not as much of a threat in the area as a creeping infiltration from other Arab states. All of the Trucial States of Aby Dhabi, Dibai, Sharja, Ajman, Umm al Qaiwain, Ras al Khaiman and Fujaira are concerned about claims to parts of their territory by Saudi Arabia, Iran and Iraq. In addition there is the very real threat of political groups influenced especially by Nasser of the United Arab Republic which would like to overthrow the powerful shieks and set up left wing republics.

The annual cost of the present British garrison in the Persian Gulf is about $60 million or half of the oil income of Abu Dhabi alone. In addition to the shieks of Trucial States, rulers in Qatar and Bahrein are worried while the immensely wealthy country of Kuwait would just as soon the British stayed around too. The concerned nations at least would like to continue the Trucial Oman Scouts, now British led, and perhaps add a small air force.

In the long run the absolute power over their people wielded by the oil rich shieks must be reduced. But the Nasser inspired republics have thus far shown little ability to improve living conditions or take a realistic view of the best way to peace and prosperity in the Middle East.

So far the Labor Government in England has taken a dim view of the offer to help pay for Britain's continued presence in the Persian Gulf and the Conservative Party may be expected to use the issue for campaign purposes. However it turns out, the situation would have warmed Rudyard Kipling's heart.

English Rector Resigns

Dr. Malcolm Muggeridge, often characterized as a formidable opponent of many of the social mores of our times, recently resigned as rector of Edinburgh University because he was "disgusted" with the students. In these days of student unrest and even revolt and the demand for more student participation in college administration and academic decisions, Dr. Muggeridge's words are worth noting.

Students, he said "are supposed to be the spearhead of progress . . . speaking for myself, there is practically nothing they could do in a mood of rebelliousness, or refusal to accept the ways and values of our rundown, spiritually impoverished way of life, for which I should not feel some degree of sympathy . . . Yet how infinitely sad, how — in a macabre sort of way — funny that the form their insubordination takes should be a demand for pot and pills: for the most tenth rate sort of escapism and self-indulgence . . . we await the great works of art, the high spirited venturing into new fields of perception and understanding. And what do we get? — the resort of any old slobbering debauchee anywhere in the world — dope and bed "

Dr. Muggeridge's charges cannot be accepted completely. A great many student protests concern serious subjects and even some of the more adolescent ones are in part a rebellion against the hypocrisy of the society Dr. Muggeridge so ruthlessly describes.

But it is true that demands for fewer regulations often seem to be for license rather than liberty. One must expect some of the former to accompany the dangers which liberty offers, but student emphasis upon marijuana and free love undermines their very real and reasonable requests for less foolish restrictions.

"What a Mickey Mouse Campaign That Is . . .!"

Alsop Is Prophet of Disaster, But Are They Really Disasters?

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Mr. Joseph Alsop has exposed what is apparently a serious movement to persuade Senator Robert Kennedy to defy convention and challenge the renomination of Lyndon Johnson. The movement is serious only because, one gathers, influential friends of Mr. Kennedy are urging him on to battle. It is not otherwise serious, inasmuch as the convention in favor of the incumbent is so very powerful that the fracturing of it would be sure to bring defeat to both parties, even as Mr. Theodore Roosevelt brought defeat to his own and William Howard Taft's party in 1912. Mr. Kennedy being the archetypal non-loser, it is impossible to conceive a situation in which he would move towards self-destruction. That would be un-American.

Buckley

But the arguments used by Mr. Alsop against Mr. Kennedy's running are interesting, not to say unusual. He predicts that three things will happen if Kennedy runs — "three closely related and irreparable disasters." Kennedy would "destroy himself . . . destroy his Party . . . and bring into power, perhaps for many years to come, the extreme rightwing of the Republican Party, with all its sordid racist and Birchite camp followers."

Now it is important to understand about Mr. Alsop that he has been a doomsayer all his public life. Indeed he can only be compared to Robert Welch for seeing the end waiting for us just around the corner of history. His most memorable recent flirtation with apocalypse was the missile gap, back around 1959 and 1960, which will be recalled as the missile gap which wasn't, though it proved useful, indeed crucial, in electing John F. Kennedy President of the United States. Let's face it, however one feels about Bobby, can anyone seriously contend that the destruction of his career would prove an "irreparable disaster"? If it is really so that the United States cannot get on without Senator Kennedy as its President, shouldn't Mr. Alsop, from the poopdeck of the sinking ship, write at least one exhortation to Lyndon Johnson to decline renomination, in favor of Bobby Kennedy?

And then again, would it be an "irreparable disaster" if the Democratic Party, after eight years in power, starting with the Bay of Pigs, and ending with the stalemate in South Vietnam, with Watts, Detroit, and Newark in between, and Fort Knox cancelling its American citizenship — would it really be an "irreparable disaster" if the party should go temporarily (why permanently?) into retirement?

And what about the business of "the extreme rightwing of the Republican Party, with all its sordid racist and Birchite camp followers"? Mr. Alsop is good enough to dilate. He explains that if Mr. Kennedy fractured the Democratic Party, the Republicans, realizing that they could elect whom they desire, would turn to their right wing, which means Nixon or Reagan. Whose election would usher in a period that "would end with an America forgetful of all the noble things America has always stood for — an America, to be blunt about it, far too close for comfort to South Africa today."

Now here is a foretaste of what we are in for if the Republicans nominate someone from its right wing, and of course there is no moral difference whatever between the Birchite so abhorred by Mr. Alsop who believes that a victory by a left Democrat would mean a Communist America, and the Alsop so beloved by Mr. Alsop who pronounces that a victory by a right-Republican would mean a fascist America. But Mr. Alsop's moral instability is not the gravamen of my complaints today, but rather the fears of our liberal brethren who do really and truly believe, even as they believe it about Senator Goldwater, that Messrs. Reagan and Nixon are being carried on the shoulders of Americans who would remake the country in the image of Mr. Voerwoerd's South Africa. A psychosis especially perplexing in the light of the fact that separatism is the platform, at this point in American politics, of the radical left, not the conservative right.

Might it merely have been a hard day for Mr. Alsop? He lashes out at Senator Eugene McCarthy for having been "more viciously unpleasant about President Kennedy than any other single man in American politics." Well, in the first place that isn't so, and in the second place, where would it leave Mr. Alsop if we all agreed to boycott people who can be viciously unpleasant? And then, finally, Mr. Alsop closes with another valentine to Senator Kennedy, whose self-desecruction Mr. Alsop notes would be an especial tragedy inasmuch as he is "the most promising and most richly equipped man of his generation in American politics." How strange. How very strange, considering Mr. Alsop's own position on the necessity of the Vietnam War, and the opacity of those who — like his beloved Senator Kennedy — oppose it. Mr. Alsop has so often railed against those who make a strategical misjudgment — opposing the Vietnam War — so basic as to raise the question of their political sanity. Now, suddenly, the leader of the peaceniks is hailed as the "most richly equipped man of his generation in American politics." Do you still follow Mr. Alsop? That would be an irreparable disaster.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 18, 1848.

We desire everybody to read this production. If we did not, we would not publish it.

In these times, when it takes the bulk of the surplus of labor of the year to pay the enormous burden of direct and indirect taxes laid upon the shoulders of the people by the Radical Republican spendthrifts who are faithfully carrying out their project of "making the rich richer and the poor poorer," so that they can realize the full fruition of the time they have long prayed for when "a national debt is a national blessing" and "the Government must take care of the rich, and the rich take care of the poor," we say, in view of the pending situation, every man should seal all that these financial plunderers offer in extenuation of their infamous deeds, and be posted and prepared to confute their sophisms at every corner.

Look at the statement of the receipts and expenditures for State purposes, ye men who have doubted and denied the declaration of Democratic presses and speakers that extravagance and corruption ran riot in the management of our state affairs!

Look at the figures! If any live man can fail to see that our State Treasury is a Tax Eating Juggernaut, we should like to have him send us his photograph to hand up as a curiosity.

Gov. (Lucius) Fairchild splurges some on the patriotic strain. Evidently his Excellency is not aware that in these financial times humbug and claptrap are as much out of place as a Wisconsin Governor would be among a body of theologians.

Bicycle Riders On the Increase In United States

AKRON (AP) — Bicycle riding is more popular in the United States today than at any time in the past, and Goodyear, the nation's largest producer of bicycle tires, sees no end in sight for the surge.

There are an estimated 68 million bike riders in this country—nearly 35 pecent of the population, the company says. Ten years ago there were only about 34 million riders, or about 20 per cent of the population.

A large factor in this increase is the growing number of adults who are riding bicycles.

It is thought that the publicity about the bike riding of Dr. Paul Dudley White, well-known heart specialist who treated former President Eisenhower, has influenced many adults to ride

McCarthy Supporters Aiming at 30 Pct. Of Votes in Primary

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Talks with dissident liberals who are enrolling in the presidential campaign drive of Sen. Eugene McCarthy make it clear that they have no illusions about winning the presidential nomination for their man over President Lyndon B. Johnson, or even of carrying the strategic Wisconsin primary election over the President in April.

Wyngaard

The McCarthy campaign thus far has shown few signs of professional management. It has enrolled the idealists, the mavericks, some of the radicals, the romantics, perhaps a few of the members of the so-called Kennedy underground. But the men who are in nominal charge of the machinery here are not all starry-eyed dreamers. They know that the odds are heavily against them, in the literal matter of winning the Wisconsin delegation to the Chicago nomination convention in August.

Their purpose, as they candidly relate it to interested questioners, is to roll up a sufficient vote to impress the White House, to attract the notice of the Democratic power establishment, and possibly to persuade it that there is enough dissent in the grass roots to induce the administration to initiate action to put an end to the Vietnam war and to return the resources and the energy of the country to the Great Society heralded with such fanfare with the installation of the President more than four years ago.

THE MEASURE OF SUCCESS

How much of a showing here would be required, in percentage of the Democratic vote, to achieve that tremor in the administration that these men and women seek?

The question was put to a man who has a fair grasp of the realities of practical politics in America and a considerable exposure to the liberal elements and the liberal political history of this state over a period of more than a quarter of a century.

He pondered a moment, and then replied. If the McCarthy name on the Wisconsin ballot attracts as many as 30 per cent of the total Democratic vote it will be a victory, in effect, he said.

If McCarthy does in fact get three votes out of 10 in this state on April 2, he went on, it is conceivable, and perhaps probable, that he could carry one district, and possibly two. This would be a headline event around the country and could not fail to be noted in the White House and the Democratic national organization. Such a repudiation of an incumbent President, even in our oblique way, would be virtually without precedent.

THINKING ABOUT MADISON

The McCarthy man involved was obviously thinking about the 2nd Congressional District, including the city of Madison where antiwar fever is heating. The chief national officeholders of the neighborhood include Sen. Nelson and Rep. Kastenmeier, both of them dovish by their own description. If their own organizations join the McCarthy movement, it is entirely conceivable — in an election in which virtually all Republicans will be occupied on their own side of the ballot — that McCarthy could claim two delegates out of the 30 votes accorded to Wisconsin at Chicago.

That the possibility has occurred to the regulars is suggested in several developments. There was the talk about organizing a pro-Johnson slate of delegates before the primary, as a means of forcing the hands of some of the most influential party leaders. There was the careful release the other day of Chairman Cudahy of the party of a list of leaders in some 65 counties who had pledged to support the President. This obviously was designed to put them on record early and to quash the idea that there is any significant rebellion brewing. There is National Committeeman David Carley, declaring that he is supporting the President, but also taking pains to say that he is opposed to the Vietnam war.

The McCarthy campaign will operate under enormous difficulties. It is led by amateurs, or men of little previous stature. In spite of optimistic early claims, there is yet no assurance of adequate financing in a time of frightful campaign costs. But in the terms in which it was conceived, as a signal for alarm in the precincts rather than as a serious bid for the presidency, the prudent observer won't write it off altogether — just yet.

Strictly Personal

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A friend of mine in St. Louis, who is deeply concerned with the Vietnam war, recently sent hundreds of copies of an editorial in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch to friends all over the country. The editorial was headed, "To Save the Dollar, End the War," and I thought it was fine.

Harris

She also wrote to the publisher of the newspaper, offering to pay for a subscription to be sent to President Johnson. The publisher replied sadly that this would be of no use because "the White House has cancelled its subscription to the Post-Dispatch."

This, to me, is as frightening a symptom of President Johnson's paranoia about the war as anything I have heard. When he orders cancelled a subscription to one of the most respected and responsible newspapers in the country, because it opposes his view on Vietnam, then we are dealing with a leader whose ears are completely closed to dissenting opinions.

A few weeks earlier, another form of political megalomania made itself evident on the part of President Johnson. According to a wire service story, he was about to board a U.S. government helicopter when an officer saluted him and said, "Sorry, sir, but this other helicopter over there is yours." And Johnson reported, "Son, they're all mine!"

In point of fact, and law, none of them belongs to the President, but to his office: they are on loan to him in his function as President. The President owns nothing that he has not already brought with him to the White House; he has only the use of certain government facilities.

This grandiloquence, this immodesty, this overweening sense of self-importance, can be more dangerous to a nation than the actual policies it follows — as we can clearly see with General de Gaulle. Confusing oneself with God is the most common disease of leadership — and it is even a more striking aberration in a democratic country than in a totalitarian one.

Everyone knew that Hitler was a psychopath, or that Stalin was a lunatic butcher; their governments were, after all, based on passion and pigheadedness. But the virtue of a democratic society is largely that it can choose men with cool heads and flexible characters to lead it through difficult times. And when its leader turns out to be rigid, stubborn, vain, vengeful, and petty, we have lost our great advantage.

Listening to one's critics and opponents is perhaps the most important function in a democratic society — the one that most clearly distinguishes it from totalitarian states. To cancel a subscription to a hostile newspaper is a declaration of war against all reason and persuasion. What, then, is left but naked force?

Compromise Possible

Country Gets Cooler About Pueblo Incident

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first reaction in this country was dismay that this might mean another war, astonishment that it could happen at all, and anger that it did happen.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "My strong advice to the North Koreans is cool it."

In the six days since the North Koreans captured the USS Pueblo, an electronic spy ship, and forced it into Wonsan Harbor with 83 men aboard, the mood in this country seems to have cooled a bit, too

President Johnson led the cooling. Ignoring some of the hawk cries in Congress, he set about trying to get the ship back in a peaceful way, first by appealing to the Russians to intercede, then to the United Nations

May Be Embarrassed

If the cooling keeps on, but the peaceful efforts fail, this country may find it embarrassing to take military action at all without some fresh Korean provocation that arouses American anger all over again.

The possible products of military action would, by themselves, be enough to make Johnson hesitate before trying it But another factor may be the cloudy condition of the whole episode

In the first place, there is the unresolved dispute between the United States and North Korea on where the Pueblo was when it was captured

This country insists it was in international waters, more than 12 miles off the Korean coast. The North Koreans insist it was spying within Korean territorial waters. There is not much doubt the electronic ship was spying, in or out of Korean waters, and that that was its mission.

On Jan. 24, the day after the Pueblo's capture, the North Korean delegate to the military armistice commission in Panmunjom, Korea, Maj. Gen Pak Chung Kook, told the U.S. delegate, Rear Adm. John V Smith:

On Jan. 20 he had complained to the Americans that the United States had sent a "number of armed spy boats" into North Korean waters, along with a group of South Korean fishing boats which were used as a shield

Despite his complaint on Jan. 20, Pak said, the United States did the same thing on Jan. 21, Jan 22, Jan. 23 (when the Pueblo was taken) and even the next day, Jan 24.

Cloudy Picture

Adm Smith replied that Pak's statements were "wild" but promised to investigate This makes for a cloudy picture And, since the United States has to be concerned about world opinion before it takes any fierce action in Korea it has the Korean charges to think about

It also has to think about the kind of military action it might take

If it moved into Wonsan Harbor to blast the fortifications and sink the Pueblo, so the North Koreans couldn't keep it, they might retaliate by executing the 83 men captured on the Pueblo.

Besides if the United States started blasting the Wonsan area or other parts of North Korea, it might precipitate a war all over again by the North against South Korea.

Still worse, Red China, as it did in the first Korean war, might move in against the United States. And there's no telling what the Soviets might do.

When he made his accusations on Jan 24, Pak told the United States all it has to do is admit "military provocation" (with the spy ship), apologize and assure North Korea "you will not recommit such criminal acts."

Judging from the way American emotion has cooled down, and the delay that will be inevitable if the United Nation gets involved, the answer to all this may be some form of American-Korean compromise.

The award to the News was made in a contest among newspapers of 50 prisons sponsored by the Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois University.

Fire-Breathing Dragon Blazes at Carnival

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The St. Paul Winter Carnival parade got some realistic excitement when a parade-float dragon supposedly spewing smoke out its nostrils caught fire.

The blaze started in the hidden fogging machine used to create the smoke effect. It knocked the award-winning float out of the parade Saturday.

Defective Heart Can Severely Stunt Growth

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My baby girl is 10 months old and weighs 10 pounds, 13 ounces. She has seen a lot of doctors I would like an honest opinion. She has a congenital heart murmur and gamma globulin deficiency. Could this interfere with her weight? — Mrs. G L.

The heart murmur, in this case, may indicate some defect in the heart. (A great many murmurs have little significance; it depends on the type and location of the murmur, plus many other factors.)

Dr. Molner

Without knowing a great deal more about this infant, I couldn't possibly venture an opinion, except to point this out: Defective hearts can and do cause a drastic reduction in growth.

With an extremely small baby it may be difficult and dangerous to tamper with the heart, or even to undertake some of the tests which may be necessary for a complete diagnosis.

Thus my guess is that the doctors you have seen have not refused to give you an honest opinion; more likely they seek to get enough information to give you a positive answer instead of a guess.

At times congenital heart defects can be corrected only after a baby has had time to grow a little, gain a little strength.

Since growth is very much slower for a child with such a defect, this can involve a waiting period which can be nerve-wracking. Your natural instinct is to want someone to hurry up and "do something," yet the safest course is to wait. It can be astonishing how rapidly a child catches up with his growth after heart surgery is performed.

During the waiting period, it may not help much for me to say have patience and pray — but sometimes that is the best advice.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have dark red and purple veins on the back of my legs and now seem to be "coming out" on the front, too.

They don't protrude but they look terrible. I am 25, with four small children.

What is the cause of these veins? I was told it was caused by poor circulation. What can I do about them? — Mrs. D. M.

These are either large veins just under the surface or are the beginning of varicose veins Poor circulation does not cause them (although varicose veins, in advanced stages, can have a lot to do with impairing circulation

Your four pregnancies might have had something to do with causing these veins to show. Your best means of preventing them from getting worse is to avoid anything tight around your legs which might restrict circulation — tight round garters or the like, tight panty girdle, etc. Try not to cross your legs, because that can put pressure on the veins.

Much heart trouble is preventable Write to Dr Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling

Dear Dr. Molner: After I had one kidney removed my doctor told me to drink plenty of water. I have been drinking about two gallons a day, including coffee, tea, low-calorie soft drinks.

I now have developed a large pot and have gained about 20 pounds Is this amount of liquid necessary, and is it causing my large pot? I am not a big eater. — M. B

At two gallons a day, sir, I think you are overdoing this a bit. Two or three quarts ought to be ample.

Better be checked by your doctor to make sure this "pot" is not fluid accumulating in the abdomen (dropsy, or edema).

Otherwise the 20 pounds you have added very likely is a combination of boggy (fluid-sodden) tissues and fat.

Merchant of Venice

English Actor Directs Production at Lawrence

Shakespeare's comedy, "The Merchant of Venice," has been named by the Lawrence University Theatre as its second major production of the season. The play will be seen in Stansbury Theatre at 8 p m Tuesday through Saturday, Feb. 20 through 24, with matinees at 1 30 p m on Saturday and Sunday, Feb 24 and 25

Visiting director Harold Kasket, a veteran of England's Royal Shakespeare Company, Old Vic and BBC Drama Repertory Company, heads the production

Two Appleton students have been named to the cast They are Thomas Callaway, 1120 E Nawada, in the role of Lorenzo; and Thomas Eastman, 342 E Franklin, as the Duke of Venice

Stage design is by Frederick Walsh, Fargo, N D , with supervision by Joseph Hopfensperger, associate professor of theatre and drama. Costume coordinator is Anne Glasner.

"The Merchant of Venice," which had its first performance about the year 1596, centers on two popular Renaissance themes — the nature of true love, and the relative strengths of love and friendship.

Myriad Characters

Its characterizations focus upon the vengeful Shylock, a Jew whose passions reveal him at once as comic, ruthless and pitiable. About him circle a myriad of others no less hateful than he — wastrels, fortune hunters, gamblers, heiresses by law and theft — all corrupted by monetary desires.

Paramount to the plot is the assignment "in merry jest" of a pound of flesh nearest Antonio's heart as bond in a transaction with Shylock, a money-lender. Shylock demands the forfeit in earnest in his rage over the elopement of his daughter, Jessica, with a Christian, Lorenzo.

The play is interwoven with many themes and moods Kasket's setting is in 18th century Venice, at a time when Venetian banking, commerce and capitalism were at their height. A deliberate attempt has been made to subdue the play's frequently anti-Semitic interpretation in the belief that its humanitarian values are of greater importance. The 18th century stylization complements this approach, since the Venice of that day had changed its adamant policy against usury, and Jews were allowed to assume Venetian dress.

Kasket's appearance as visiting director continues a practice begun last hear when William J. Greene, of the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, directed Lawrence's winter production

The English actor has for the past two years been associated with the BBC radio company, and has acted previously in theatre repertory groups, television, films and musical theatre. For three years, beginning in 1961, he played the role of Max in a London production of "The Sound of Music." His most recent part was that of a Jewish psychiatrist in a Canadian play, "The True Bleeding of Martin B." recorded in December by the BBC.

Principal roles for the upcoming production have been assigned as follows: Antonio, Stephen Rosenfield, Larchmont, N Y.; Salerio, Craig Hamilton, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Salanio, Mark Leonas, Olympia Fields, Ill.; Bassanio, Mark Keller, Edina, Minn.; Gratiano, James Fry, Rockford, Ill.; Portia, Adrienne Kulieke, Prospect Heights, Ill ;

Nerissa, Lizbeth Tulsky, Skokie, Ill.; Shylock, Patrick O'Brien, Chicago, Ill.; Prince of Morocco, Richard King, Markham, Ill.; Launcelot, William Cass, Westville, Ind.; Leonardo, Craig Nienaber, Edina, Minn.; Jessica, Miriam Leon, Cleveland, Ohio; Prince Aragon, James Sherman, Kansas City, Mo .

Stephano, Michael McGillivray, Duluty, Minn.; Tubal, Jeffrey Jones, Minneapolis, Minn.; Balthasar, Jacob Stockinger, Bethany, Conn.; Major Domo, Thomas Lightburn, Plainfield, N.J ; Old Gobbo, Jeffrey Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, Mich

Tickets for the production go on sale Tuesday at the Lawrence University Box Office in the Music-Drama Center, 115 N. Park Ave Office hours are 12:30 to 6 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

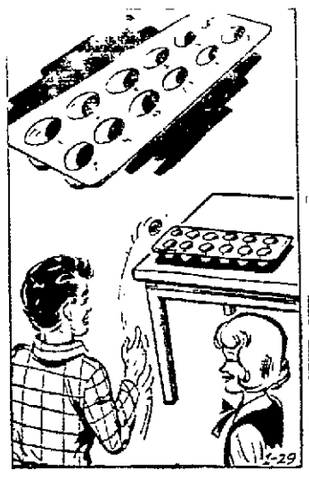
Toss a Bottle Cap and Target Decides Your Fate

BY CAPPY DICK

When you hold a party for your friends it is fun to have stunts lined up for them to perform. The fun will be increased if you use a special method of deciding which guest will perform each stunt.



Use Bottle Tops

A bottle-cap game called "Fate" is the method. Do not tell the guests ahead of time that they will be called upon to do stunts; let this come as a surprise after everyone has had his turn playing "Fate."

Number from 1 to 12 the bottom compartments of an egg carton as in the picture above Collect 15 or 20 pop bottle caps

On a sheet of paper secretly print a list of stunts, or "fates" to be performed, numbering them from 1 to 12 as the carton was numbered. Here are suggested fates:

2 Imitate a rooster crowing.
3. Salute with both hands
4 Sing "Yankee Doodle" while marching around the room.
5. Make up and tell a story about a talking parrot.
6. Name seven ways of preparing potatoes.
7 Count backwards from 50
8. Imitate a basketball player.
9 Show how high you can sing, then how low
10 Make three funny faces.
11. Tell a joke.
12. Bark like a dog and meow like a cat.

Have the guests, one at a time, stand seven feet from the egg carton and toss bottle caps until one lands in a compartment. Keep track of its number. When all guests have done this, announce that the guests must now perform the fates called for by their numbers

The fun the stunts produce will provide a lot of laughs. Tomorrow: How to force spring buds to bloom early!

'Luther' Brought to Life Again

7-8 (Channel 5) — I spy star Robert Culp guests on Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In in a series of running sight gags spoofing his series. He is also featured as the Weirdo of the Week, a gentleman obsessed with a hobby: building railroads Comedian Flip Wilson does a topical monologue set in revolutionary times. There's also Muriel Landers in a funny bit as the founder of a weight reduction institution and Arte Johnson as Piorto Desmenko an Iron Curtain rock 'n roller. Keep an eye peeled for quickies by Sheldon Leonard (again) and Tommy Smothers (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7) — Buddy Hackett sparks up The Lucy Show as the proprietor of a shabby shop specializing in stolen merchandise. His motto: "If we haven't got what you want, we'll pick it up for you." (C)

8-8:30 (Channels 2-7) — The Andy Griffith Show is a takeoff on the Glassboro summit meeting with Don Knotts guesting and bringing the American and Russian together at Andy's home in Mayberry. (C)

8-9 (Channel 5) — Olivia De Havilland is perfectly cast on The Danny Thomas Hour as a middle class Jewish mother whose life was saved as a 10-year old by a German concentration camp guard. He found a spark of life in her as he and others were building a pile of children's bodies, killed by a Nazi butcher. Her life is suddenly shattered by an agent (Richard Todd) tracking down war criminals who wants her to return to Germany to testify at the trial of the man who almost killed her. (C)

9-10 (Channels 11-9) — James Whitmore brings another strong characterization to The Big Valley, this time as a legendary marshal who comes to town to lead a posse when the sheriff is gunned down. C)

9-10 (Channels 2-7) — The talent trade is turning out to be a good thing for us viewers, this time Jonathan Winters paying off his half of the barter on The Carol Burnett Show. Dionne Warwick is also on hand singing a gospel-music production to "This Little Light of Mine" and joins Carol for a duet to "T'morra, T'morra." Winters is particularly funny as Maud Frickert, a maternity patient in a hospital skit, during which he also plays the institution's administrator. (C)

* * *

9-10 (Channel 5) — "Dear Mom," writes Scott on I Spy, "tonight Kelly and I went out and got stoned." And he was being quite literal. The two are marooned in a small town, surrounded by vicious antagonists (remember "Bad Day at Black Rock") who take some sadistic steps, including the stoning, to make them leave. Since they are investigating the murder of a fellow agent, the boys are going nowhere and the viciousness mounts. (C)

Sands Hotel Expansion

Howard Hughes Says Las Vegas Unit to be 'City Within City'

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Industrialist Howard Hughes says he plans a 150 million expansion of his Sands hotel-casino into a "city within a city" for Las Vegas.

Gov. Paul Laxalt disclosed the plan in Carson City after receiving a written message from Hughes. Later, Hughes sent announcements to newspapers.

Hughes, who never makes public appearances, said he was making the announcement "as a starting attempt at better communication."

A 4,000-room addition to the hotel will be built. It now has 778 rooms.

"It is our hope that this hotel will be something completely unique and novel," Hughes said. "like nothing anyone has ever seen before—a complete city within itself."

His plans provide for one floor of the hotel to be stores. Another floor, he said, would be given over to the largest bowling alley in the world, an ice skating rink, indoor golf course and a motion picture theater "equipped with projection and sound equipment so modern it has not even been shown yet to the public in literature and trade publications."

$76.7 Billion 'n Budget for Military Costs

The fiscal 1968 military outlay for the Vietnam war is outstripping last January's forecast by about $2 6 billion.

Johnson's new defense budget provides money to start building the Sentinel antimissile system designed to protect the United States from any Red Chinese atomic missile threat starting in the early 1970s.

The administration feels it would be a waste of money to buy much more expensive anti-missile defense proposed by military leaders to guard against possible Soviet attack.

Instead, it is concentrating on strengthening the missile force that hopefully deters the Soviets from launching an attack, lest they be pulverized in return.

Better Missiles

The total missile force will remain the same in the coming year, at 1,710 land-based and submarine-launched weapons But the missiles will be improved with more sophisticated penetration aids for getting past enemy defenses, and multiple warheads capable of being directed to separate targets

"While we stand ready to enter meaningful discussions with the Soviet Union on the limitation of strategic forces," Johnson said, "it is necessary to assure that our defense capabilities remain equal to any challenge or threat." The President spoke of keeping "our decisive strategic deterrent."

His reference to "multiple, independently targeted warheads" for the more effective Minuteman III intercontinental and Poseidon submarine-fired missiles was the first public mention of this advanced weapon by the President. Defense officials began speaking of such warheads in the open last fall

Bomber Force

In addition to missile improvement, Johnson told of intentions to modernize the 600-bomber force with additional FB111s, the bomber version of the controversial TFX, and short-range, plane-launched missiles.

Along with a start on the anti-missile defense, Johnson said the Defense Department will begin revamping the U.S. anti-bomber defense.

Senators Give Views On Release of Pueblo

President Johnson's diplomatic efforts to get the ship and crew back adding he had talked over the matter with the Chief Executive.

But, Dirksen added, "there is a great deal more here than just this ship and its crewmen. There is involved national morale and prestige.

"If we let these fourth, fifth and sixth rate Communist countries kick us around, what can we expect in the future?

"We must make it plain, and not in weaselly words, that there will be no answer except the return of the ship and its crewmen because they were clearly in international waters when they were seized," Dirksen added

The Navy said its freeze on Reserve discharges did not extend to men in the regular service whose tours of duty are expiring.

Since the crisis developed early last week, more than 14,000 Air Reserves have been called up, along with 600 Naval Reservists.

The Pentagon, in announcing the strengthening of air power in the Far East, withheld the names of the air units, the number of planes involved or their bases

It would not comment on a report that a squadron of jet fighters had flown to Korea from Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada.

Defense officials also declined to comment on reports the carrier Yorktown may have joined the nuclear carrier Enterprise in the Sea of Japan off Korea.

And while officials maintained silence on the backstage diplomatic maneuvers in several countries aimed at resolving the Pueblo crisis, it was reported that two centers of this effort were Warsaw and Tokyo.

The Soviet Union has publicly rebuffed U.S. requests for help, but administration officials in Washington did not flatly rule out eventual aid from Moscow

$82 Million Increase Sought In Foreign Affairs Expenditures

LBJ's Budget Message Warns Country of Shrinking 'From the Work of Peace'

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked today for an $82 million increase in foreign-affairs expenditures to $5.68 billion in fiscal 1969 despite Congress' heavy slash in his aid program last year.

Johnson said in his budget message that "we must not shrink from the work of peace. We must continue because we do not wish our children to inherit a world in which two-thirds of the people are underfed, diseased and poorly educated."

Johnson budgeted $5.15 billion for nonmilitary spending on international affairs and finance, $107 million above fiscal 1968, including aid programs and costs of agencies such as the State Department.

For arms aid he proposed $525 million, a $25 million decrease. But this does not include unlisted sums for South Vietnam, Thailand and Laos, which were wrapped into the regular U.S. defense budget.

On economic aid to fight the "other war" in South Vietnam —to finance imports to combat inflation, help build schools, raise farm yields, care for refugees—he allotted $480 million for fiscal 1969, a $10 million rise.

Perennially the most controversial foreign spending item is economic aid disbursed by the Agency for International Development. For that he asked for $2.33 billion in his new budget, a $125 million hike.

—$277 million, an increase of $68 million above fiscal 1968, would go to Southeast Asian countries outside of Vietnam. Indonesia would get more to help her recover "from a long period of economic mismanagement" under her overthrown leftist regime.

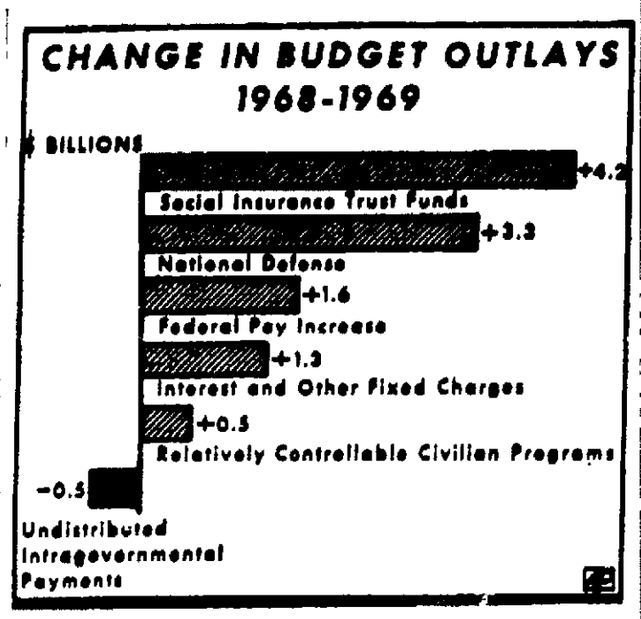
—$706 million, an increase of $239 million, would be devoted to Near Eastern and South Asian nations, mainly India and Pakistan.

—$708 million, a $170 million increase, would be channeled to Latin America in line with Johnson's pledge to step up Alliance for Progress efforts to boost living standards.

—$179 million, an increase of $39 million, would go to African nations.

Johnson earmarked $1.4 billion in fiscal 1969 for the Food for Freedom program of sending U.S. farm products to needy countries, a $129 million climb over this year.

State Department expenditures for fiscal 1969 were listed at $355 million, up $18 million. Operations of the U.S. Information Agency would cost $194 million, a $7 million rise.



The Chart Shows the increases in billions of dollars in various items provided for in the federal government's budget for fiscal year 1969, compared to actual outlays for 1968. Undistributed intragovernmental payments include government contributions for employe retirement and interest received by trust funds. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Closing Seen For Job Corps Center in State

Camp McCoy's Facility Affected By Federal Budget

SPARTA (AP) — Spokesmen at the Camp McCoy Job Corps center say a decision to include the facility among centers to be shut down may reflect the high cost of having to operate the unit far from a major urban center.

There was no immediate word concerning a date for closing the center.

A reduction in Job Corps funds will lead to closing of the Camp McCoy center and 15 other centers, the Office of Economic Opportunity said today while Congress was being given President Johnson's budget message.

Trainees are to be transferred to other antipoverty programs. The Job Corps has 108 other centers besides those being closed.

Centers being closed involve young men getting job training, but no women trainees.

Carl E. Wagner, Camp McCoy's Job corps director since September, said Sunday he still had received no formal word of the closing, but that such action probably would reflect the center's rural location.

He said it has been costly providing the camp's trainees with services normally found in large urban centers.

Also, the Camp McCoy unit does not have as high a job-placement record as many other centers because it has not been operating very long, he said.

About 500 persons are employed at the facility under a government contract with the RCA Service Co. of Radio Corporation of America.

Crime-Fighting Budget

Law Enforcement At Local Levels High in Priorities

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's budget earmarks nearly $63.2 million to pay for new and beefed up crime-fighting programs in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

All but about $10 million would go for grants to improve local law enforcement.

The administration estimates $53.2 million would be spent during the fiscal year under the so-called safe streets legislation, pending in Congress.

Most of the remaining $10 million would go toward new agents to strengthen federal narcotics enforcement programs.

New Program

The safe streets legislation would authorize a new program of federal financial and technical assistance to state and local governments.

This is intended to encourage planning and new efforts to improve law enforcement and criminal justice systems at the state and local levels.

The $10 million to intensify federal anticrime efforts would include:

—Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, $1.2 million to increase the number of agents from 325 to 428, mainly to control traffic in LSD and other hallucinogenic drugs.

—U.S. attorneys, $2.3 million to hire another 100 assistant United States attorneys.

The $10 million also will provide 128 more Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, 100 of them to be used primarily for civil rights investigations. Whether all of the $10 million is spent during the fiscal year depends on filling all the vacancies.

The over-all expenditures sought for the Justice Department, the government's principal crime-fighting agency, $504.4 million, an increase of $61.7 million over the present fiscal year. Included in this is the $53 million under the safe streets proposal.

Of the total the FBI, the largest agency within the Justice Department, would spend $205.6 million, up $10.1 million from the current fiscal year.

Fox, Wolf Surveys to Get $20,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Surveys along the Fox and Wolf rivers in Wisconsin have been allotted $20,000 in the new federal budget recommendations. President Johnson's budget message today to Congress for Army Corps of Engineers operations during the fiscal year beginning July 1 also provided for $100,000 for work on the Green Bay harbor.

The other Wisconsin projects were provided for:

For construction:

Eau Galle River, Spring Valley, $1,122,000; Kenosha harbor rehabilitation, $340,000; La Farge Reservoir and channel improvements, land acquisition, $700,000.

Also, for surveys:

Harbor between Kenosha and Kewaunee, $20,000; Mississippi River at La Crosse, $25,000; Mississippi at Prairie du Chien, $37,000, Oconto harbor, $16,000; St. Croix River, $25,000; Sturgeon Bay and Lake Michigan ship canal, $16,000.

Also, for operation and maintenance: $1,122,000.

Father Leaps Into Well After Child

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A 5-year-old girl fell into a well Sunday and her father jumped in after her, then both were rescued after 15 minutes.

Police said the water was 85 feet deep and the water surface was 15 feet from the top.

Bill G. Hurtie, 38, of Kansas City, and his family were looking at a house with a real estate saleswoman when his daughter, Cindy, fell through planks covering the well in suburban Shawnee.

"I saw my baby down there and I just pumped. I don't even know how to swim," he said. Hurtie held on to a tree root growing out of the well wall until he and his daughter were helped up a ladder held by three men.

Figuring Is Easier in 'Unified' Format

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you wince at the $186.1 billion total of President Johnson's new budget, remember that most of the rise from a year ago reflects a new budget format, not a spending splurge.

Roughly one-fourth of the outlays—about $47 billion—in the new "unified" fiscal blueprint sent to Congress today represents outlays of the government-held trust funds, included for the first time.

The reform was recommended in October by a 16-member presidential commission. It is designed to show the full impact of federal taxing, spending and lending by including the highway, pension and social insurance funds previously regarded as "outside the budget."

Under the old "administrative" budget, spending and revenues would have been lower and the deficit bigger. The fiscal 1969 outlays, at $147.4 billion, would be $10.2 billion higher than spending in this fiscal year. The red ink would total $11.8 billion.

By adding in the income and outgo of Social Security, medicare and other funds, the "unified" receipts total $178.1 billion, the outlays $186.1 billion and the deficit $8 billion.

One aim is to show more fully the economic impact of all the federal dollars fed into the nation's spending stream and all the dollars paid in by taxes.

A second aim is to avoid confusion like that surrounding last year's budget message—a triple-headed bookkeeping monster which told the fiscal story in three different ways.

Finally, it's hoped the simpler format might forestall the perennial charges of "budget gimmickry" always made by political foes of whichever party holds office. In this it did not quite succeed. Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican conference, charged that parts of the big anticipated deficit in the government's general funds is being offset and concealed by a $6 billion "surplus" in the trust funds.

Bu almost all economists call the new format an improvement over the administrative budget. They expect it also will replace, to a considerable extent, the other two major budget concepts—the "cash consolidated budget" and the "National Income Accounts budget," both devised as tools of the economic analysis.

The cash and NIA budgets both include the trust funds, but they differ in many other respects. In fact, if Johnson had chosen to use the NIA budget for fiscal 1969, the deficit would be only $2 billion instead of the $8 billion in the unified budget.

Last year's message presented all three budget concepts, with chaotic results.

Some news media used the administrative budget in telling the fiscal 1968 budget story, with spending at $135 billion. Some used the cash budget, at $172.4 billion. Others used the NIA budget, at $169.2 billion. All three showed different deficits.

Most Income Must be Listed For Internal Revenue Service

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some main points about filing your income tax return on 1967 income.

Deadline: Midnight, Monday, April 15. List your Social Security number on your return, if you have one. There's a penalty for failing to.

Enclose with your return all W-2 withholding receipts given you by employers to show how much tax was withheld from your pay last year.

Income tax time is quickly rolling around again and we all are faced with the complexities of the tax return. This is the first of a five-part series explaining the ins and outs of income tax filing.

Here are other points

Income—Some kinds are taxable, some not. Report only the taxable kind on your return.

Some taxable income: wages, salaries, bonuses, commissions, fees, tips, dividends, interest on savings accounts and U.S. savings bonds, profits from business, rents, royalties, prizes and awards when you did something to win them.

Nontaxable Income

Some nontaxable income: Social Security, gifts, inheritances bequests, life insurance payments on death, dividends on veterans insurance, disability retirement payments and other benefits paid by the Veterans Administration, workmen's compensation insurance, damages for injury or death, and Railroad Retirement Act benefits.

Who must file a return? You must, whether or not you owe any tax, if you had $600 or more taxable income last year and were under 65 ($1,200 if you were 65 or older). The same goes for your wife.

You were considered 65 for all of 1967 if your 65th birthday was as late as Jan. 1, 1968 Children with $600 or more of the taxable kind of income must file a return. Parents are responsible for doing it if the child can't.

Self-employed—You must file a return, no matter your age, if your 1967 self-employment income was $400 or more. Use Form 1040 and Schedule C for this.

Two Returns

Joint or separate returns? Husbands and wives usually save by filing jointly, even if the wife had no income.

An under-65 wife with $600 or more taxable income ($1,200 if 65 or older) must file a return, either jointly with her husband or separately. If in doubt on which to do, try both ways before deciding.

If a wife files separately, she claims her own exemption on her return and her husband claims his exemptions on his return. When filing jointly, they must claim all their exemptions on that one return Exemptions—Each exemption you can claim means that much ($600) knocked off your income before what's left is taxable.

Anyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself if he was under 65 ($1,200 if 65 or older).

Wife's Exemption

You get a $600 exemption for your wife if she was under 65 ($1,200 if 65 or older) but only if she files jointly with you or, if she had no taxable income, fails to file jointly and is not claimed as a dependent by someone else.

While an under-65 wife with less than $600 income (or less than $1,200 if 65 or older) is not required to file a return, if she had any taxable income at all, no matter how small, the husband can not claim an exemption for her unless she files jointly with him.

The person filing a return gets an extra $600 exemption for himself if he was blind in 1967 and an extra $600 exemption for his wife if she was blind. Remember, a wife is not considered a dependent.

Exemptions for dependents—Anyone filing a return also gets a $600 exemption for each dependent he can rightfully claim. But he gets no extra $600 for a blind dependent and no extra $600 because a dependent was 65 or older.

Social Security tax and income—Under or over 65— and even though you are receiving Social Security payments—you must pay a Social Security tax on any taxable earned income..

Personal Deductions

Deductions—Anyone filing a return can deduct a certain amount of his income, before what's left is taxable, for some kinds of personal expenses. There are two basic rules:

There's the standard deduction, which the government lets anyone take, even though it may be larger than actual expenses You can take this without having to show what your expenses were by listing them.

Or, if your deductible expenses were more than the standard deduction permits, you can claim them in full but only if you itemize them to prove you had them. In this case you must use Form 1040 and figure your own tax.

Compute Tax

How to find your tax—You find it in the tax table or figure it yourself. The tax table is in the instruction sheet sent all taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service. Not all people can use it.

Only those with under $5,000 income can use the table, and not all of them. If they can't use it, they must figure their own tax by using one of the tax rate schedules which are also in the IRS instruction sheet.

People with $5,000 or more income must figure their own tax from the tax rate schedules.

What tax form to use—There are two main forms: 1040 and 1040A. The latter, a punchcard, is simpler. Briefly, here are the rules:

1. Only under-$10,000 income people can use 1040A. And not all of them can. You must fit certain conditions to use it. More on this later in this series.

$10,000 Income

2. People with $10,000 or more income must use 1040. So must the under-$10,000 people who can't use 1040A. And so must people itemizing their deductions.

Servicemen—There are special rules for military people who served in Vietnam

1 An enlisted man's pay doesn't have to be reported and is tax-free for any part of a month in which he served in Vietnam and its adjacent waters or was hospitalized anywhere as a result of wounds, disease, or injury incurred in Vietnam or those adjacent waters.

2 A commissioned officer is also exempt from 1967 tax on the first $500 of pay for any month under the same conditions explained above for enlisted men.

Information—The information given in this series is limited by length. If you need more, consult the IRS instruction sheet or, for 50 cents, buy the government's 160-page booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax," from the nearest IRS office or from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D C., 20402

NEXT: The tax form.

Kaukauna Youth Injured When Car Hits Pole

KAUKAUNA — James La Borde, 19, 1014 Draper St., Kaukauna, suffered chest injuries about 1:20 a.m. Saturday when the car he was driving east on 10th Street struck a utility pole.

According to police, La Borde lost control of his car, skidded 69 feet before crossing the center line of the road, skidded another 138 feet on the wrong side of the road and then the vehicle left the road and traveled another 69 feet before hitting the pole at 10th Street and Sullivan Avenue. The youth was taken to the Community Hospital in the city ambulance.

Patrick Jones, 19, 920 E Lincoln Ave., Little Chute, escaped injury in an accident about 4:30 p.m. Friday. Snow on the road was listed as a contributing factor in the mishap.

According to police, Jones was traveling north on Cleveland Avenue and was attempting to turn into an alley between Eighth and Ninth streets when the car went into a skid, dropped off a 12-foot ledge landing on its top and then continuing to slide down the hill upside down until it came to a halt against a home at 719 E Eighth St.
